Proposed Bill Has Approval Of President

Would Start When Truman Gave Word

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson today urged immediate universal military training legislation that can be put into effect whenever the President may direct.

The proposal came in a letter from Johnson to the chairmen of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees.

Johnson said in his letter that the bill he proposed had the approval of President Truman.

It would provide for compulsory military training of young men between the ages of 17 and 20 and establish an independent commission to direct the program.

This "National Security Training Commission" would be appointed by and answerable to the President.

The measure also proposes a national security training advisory board to be composed largely of civilians who would serve with at least three military members.

Six Months Basic Training

The Johnson bill would establish a national security training corps, consisting of all young men to be trained. Members of this corps would have military status, but would not be members of the armed forces and would be subject to no duty other than training.

The training period would be divided into phases. The first six months would be "continuous" training. In this period the trainee would choose his branch of the service within the limits of quotas.

After the basic training period, the young man would have 11 options. He could choose additional training on active duty with the corps for six months. Other choices available to him would be: Voluntary enlistment in the regular armed forces, enlistment in the National Guard, organized naval reserve, or organized Marine Corps reserve.

He could also choose to join the enlisted reserve corps of the Army or Air Force and be assigned to an organized unit.

$30 Month Allowance

Subject to his qualifications, the corps member could enter the Military, Naval or Coast Guard Academies or enroll in the Navy or Marine Corps officer procurement program.

Another choice open to him would be entering college and joining a Reserve Officers Training Corps unit.

The bill would require each male American to register for military training no later than his eighteenth

Navy Ships Have Delivered 40,000 Men To Far East

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — U. S. Navy ships were officially credited today with delivering 40,000 men, 500,000 tons of military cargo and 2,000,000 barrels of petroleum to the Far East since the outbreak of the Korean war.

Navy spokesmen gave the figures in describing at least part of the Navy's role in the Far Pacific conflict which began last June 25.

At a Pentagon news conference, the Navy also reported eighty-five per cent of the men and supplies moved across the Pacific have been carried by the Military Sea Transport Service. The rest went aboard combat ships or via the air lift operated by the Air Force.

Railroad 'Token' Strike Called At 3 Key Terminals

Truman Refuses To Take Over Carriers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — President Truman today reaffirmed his hands-off policy toward seizing the railroads to avert a threatened nation-wide rail strike.

Union officials promptly authorized a five day "token" strike by yardmen at three strategic terminals, starting next Monday at 6 a.m.

White House negotiations to end the long-drawn dispute over hours and wages virtually collapsed last night after the unions renewed their appeal to Mr. Truman to take over the railroads.

Top union officials left Washington for their homes, accusing the operators of taking a "defiant, high-handed attitude" and declaring there was "no point" in continuing the deadlocked discussions at the White House.

Talks May Be Resumed

However, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told newsmen this noon that the administration hopes to resume White House negotiations within a few days in an attempt to head off a strike.

"Seizure of the railroads is not now in the President's mind," Ross said.

Almost immediately after the President's stand became known, a union spokesman announced that President William P. Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen had authorized some 3,000 yardmen at three key terminals to walk out next Monday morning and remain out for five days.

The spokesman said that while the numbers involved are small, the effect of the strike would be magnified by the importance of the terminals.

Strike Vote Almost Unanimous

The yardmen affected are employed by the Kentucky and Indiana Terminal Railroad, with headquarters at Louisville; the Minnesota Tranfer Railroad, with headquarters at St. Paul, and the River Terminal Railroad, with headquarters at Cleveland.

River terminal is a wholly owned subsidiary of Republic Steel Corp., hauling ore, coal and other raw materials on a 22 mile line in the Cuyahoga Valley around Cleveland. It has about 400 employes, including 175 yardmen.

A union spokesman said more than 98 per cent of the yardmen had voted in favor of the strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP) — The 1,000 tons of explosives dropped in the B-29 raid on the Naktong front yesterday were equivalent to about one-twentieth of an atom bomb.

Plan For Gearing U. S. To Economic Controls Studied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — President Truman started passing out work assignments today to government agencies which will administer some parts of whatever economic controls Congress finally authorizes.

He met with heads of federal regulatory bodies at the White House as the Senate waded into another day of argument over the scope of the powers to be given the President for home front mobilization.

Another White House caller during the day was Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric and a key figure in gearing industry to the World War II effort.

Some of the biggest jobs in the economic mobilization effort already have been assigned, on the assumption that the lawmakers will give the President the powers he asked.

The Commerce Department gets allocations and priorities to channel scarce materials into defense production. The Federal Reserve Board gets credit controls to curb inflation.

But some other agencies will be in the picture too and their tasks were up for discussion in the White House session. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the conference was called to go over the roles of the agencies in "whatever emergency program may be set up."

Present were the heads of the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Communications Commission and other agencies.

Juvenile Court's Puzzling Problem

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 16 (AP) — The Indianapolis Juvenile Court which withholds the names of minors brought before it, is working on a baffling case.

The problem is to iron out difficulties between a husband and wife, married three years ago at the ages of 34 and 13, respectively.

Her husband complained he liked to visit friends and entertain them in return.

His wife, he added, just liked to go to a nearby playground and swing.

Flier, Stowaway Taken Off Batory

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 16 (AP)—British police yanked two Americans—a hitch-liking aviator and a stowaway—off the Polish liner Batory today and jailed them pending a check of fingerprints in Washington.

One is William Jesse Newton, 26-year-old mystery man who landed a rented seaplane in the Atlantic alongside the outbound liner more than 100 miles from New York Tuesday, Aug. 8.

The other is Howard Campbell, 29, Des Moines, Ia., who arrived in England as a stowaway for the second time in four months. He came ashore under arrest from the liner Queen Mary last May 4 and served 28 days on conviction of stowing away—a criminal charge in Britain. He declared then he was a communist organizer fleeing from U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Immigration officials indicated they were pretty well satisfied Campbell is a harmless eccentric. They were still studying Newton's case.

It was aboard the Batory, pride of Communist Poland, that Communist Gerhart Eisler fled New York in May, 1949. Eisler had jumped bail on a charge of making false statements in an application for a permit to enter the United States. A British court held the German-born stowaway was not extraditable under British law. He went on to Berlin, where he is now the communist propaganda chief of East Germany.

UMW Denies It Violated T-H Act In Pact Dispute

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers denied today they violated the Taft-Hartley Act with four key demands in last winter's contract dispute.

Operators had accused them of using coercive methods in a drive to get illegal provisions into a contract.

Attorney Welly K. Hopkins, speaking for Lewis and the UMW, said there were "no must demands" in the 10 months of negotiations which were marked by strikes and finally ended with a contract March 5.

"All the issues and all the demands and all the requests were negotiable all of the time up to and including March 5," Hopkins told Trial Examiner Arthur Leff of the National Labor Relations Board.

Hearings on unfair labor practice complaints against the UMW were started today. The complaints were filed by all of the soft coal operators in dispute with Lewis last January when the contract fight was at its bitterest.

Hopkins insisted that the operators had asked General Counsel Robert N. Denham, prosecuting officer for the NLRB, to dismiss their complaints but he refused. The operators had made the request, Hopkins said, because the complaints were no longer important.

The new agreement either dropped or softened each of the four demands, involving the union shop, welfare fund benefits for UMW members only, memorial or mourning periods, and a provision that miners work only when "able and willing."

Leff refused Hopkins' motion to dismiss the case, however, and the hearing went ahead.

U. S. Criticizes British Rearmament Program

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP) — The United States has complained informally to Britain that her projected $9,520,000,000 program of rearmament against communism doesn't go far enough, diplomatic officials said tonight.

This information developed as Prime Minister Attlee rejected a demand from Conservative Leader Winston Churchill that Attlee convene parliament before Sept. 12 for urgent consideration of defense matters.

Attlee announced after a 90-minute conference with Churchill and Liberal Leader Clement Davies that he still felt the Sept. 12 date for calling parliament back from its summer recess would be most suitable. That date itself is more than a month ahead of schedule.

Star In Movie Wife Roles Files For Mexican Divorce

MYRNA LOY

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16 (AP) — Myrna Loy, star in many movie wife roles, has filed for a Mexican divorce from the producer, Gene Markey.

Her attorney said she signed the petition in Cuernavaca yesterday. She charged mental cruelty.

Attorney Francisco Lopez Figueroa said Markey has agreed to the divorce. The couple have been separated six months.

Markey, last reported in London, is represented by Attorney Antonio Valenzuela. The actress' attorney said property settlement had been arranged. This speeds the Mexican divorce action.

Miss Loy and Markey were married at San Pedro, Calif., Jan. 3, 1946.

House OKs Bill To Cancel Mail Service Slash

Vote Is 264-108; Now Up To Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — A bill to cancel a postoffice economy order and put city mail service back on a schedule of two deliveries a day was passed today by the Senate, 264 to 108.

It took time and some legislative detours to get the House on record. But in the end, it approved the bill to nullify the order issued last April by Postmaster General Donaldson.

The order reduced mail deliveries in cities to one a day and trimmed other services. Donaldson put it out after the House Appropriations Committee directed a reduction in deliveries and the committee, and the House itself, slashed Postoffice Department funds.

Now Up To Senate

Then there were cries of protest in Congress when Donaldson followed through with his economy move.

Now it's up to the Senate to say what it thinks of the order. A Senate committee has okayed a bill to rescind it but there are no signs the Senate itself will vote any time soon.

And President Truman might very well veto such a bill, because it takes a slap at something one of his cabinet did.

Today's House action was more evidence of the ever-present tendency in Congress to talk big about saving money and then vote for more spending.

Republican congressmen were about three to one for the bill to restore full postal service and Democrats supported it about two to one.

Amount Saved Uncertain

How much Donaldson's economy order has been saving is uncertain. Estimates ran from $15,000,000 to $70,000,000 a year.

Backers of the bill to wipe out the order said the Postoffice Department ought to do its saving in other places, not at the expense of poorer service to businessmen and to soldiers and their families.

Foes of the measure said not many people were complaining, that it was mostly mail order companies and a letter carriers' lobby.

Korean Report To Be Given U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 16 (AP) — The United States will toss into the United Nations Korean debate tomorrow a new report on the critical military situation in Korea, a spokesman said today.

This will be the second report on the operations of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unified command and the first since Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik became president of the Security Council Aug. 1.

There was no advance information as to the content, but if it is anything like the previous report of July 25, diplomatic circles said, it is sure to touch off a bitter Soviet attack.

The report may give some evidence to back up charges that recently manufactured Soviet war materiels have been used by the Communist North Koreans.

A dispatch from the Korean front yesterday said U. N. observers had been given 122 grenades, a submarine gun and other small arms manufactured in 1949 and 1950 and bearing Russian markings. Malik told the council last week Russia has not supplied any arms to North Korea since 1948.

Social Security Compromise Bill Okayed By House

Senate Will Take Up Measure Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—A vast expansion of social security got over the last big hurdle in Congress today. The House approved a compromise bill including a senate provision which the administration strongly opposes.

The big fight had been over that section, sponsored by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), so Senate approval of the version worked out in a Senate-House conference was taken for granted. The Senate is due to take up the measure tomorrow and leaders hope to get it on President Truman's desk by the end of the week.

The section in controversy sharply cuts down the authority of the Secretary of Labor to withhold unemployment compensation funds from a state when he holds that the state's compensation system fails to meet federal standards.

Broader sections of the bill, on which there has been much less disagreement, add some 10,000,000 persons to the 35,000,000 now covered by old age benefits; raise pensions of those now in the rolls by about 77½ per cent; approximately double payments for those retiring in the future; raise from $3,000 to $3,600 the amount of yearly pay taxed for social security, and start in 1954 a gradual rise from the present 1½ per cent to 3¼ per cent in the levy on workers and employer.

Soviet-Red China Aid Agreement Reported

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 16 (AP) — A military aid agreement between Soviet Russia and Red China which would send 150,000 Chinese communist troops into the Korean war was reported by Chinese Nationalist sources.

The unconfirmed reports said the Red China manpower would be used if the North Koreans are slammed back to the 38th parallel, the legal dividing line between North and South Korea.

Even the shelter of a storm cellar and a metal-roofed car shed failed to protect the victims from the powerful charges.

Schiaparelli Is Questioned In Reported Theft Of Gems

NICE, France, Aug. 16 (AP)—Police today detained Modiste Elsa Schiaparelli and questioned her for hours about some jewels she had reported stolen. She was released tonight and police said no charges would be placed against her, but that they would confiscate $1,485 in U. S. currency.

One of the world's leading designers of women's clothing, Schiaparelli was stopped by police as she was about to board a plane for Tunis. She reported on Aug. that jewels worth 3,000,000 francs (about $8,500) had been stolen from her. Police said some of these jewels were found in her luggage today.

Police said they found the $1,485 while searching her baggage. Schiaparelli, police said, will have to pay an administrative fine equal to $148.50 for failing to declare the money.

The 53-year-old fashion leader told newsmen that she had found in the bottom of a bureau drawer three of four pieces of jewelry she had reported stolen, but that the most valuable piece actually was stolen.

Yanks Launch Drive Against Enemy Bulge

Reds Cross River In Bomb-Hit Area

TOKYO, Thursday, Aug. 17 (AP) — Korean Red forces stabbed across the Naktong today where American Superfortresses hurled the greatest blow against ground troops since the Normandy invasion. To the South U. S. Army infantry and Marines launched an offensive against the menacing Red bulge east of the river near Changnyong.

The Marine role in the offensive was announced simultaneously with an Army-delayed disclosure that the leathernecks four days ago had to pull back 27 miles after their first offensive of the campaign—in the Chinju sector southwest of Changnyong.

The new communist crossing—in undetermined strength — was on the South Korean sector about five miles north of Waegwan, 12 air miles northwest of Taegu. This was in the area plastered yesterday by 98 big Boeing B-29s in an attempt to break up the Reds' projected biggest offensive of the war by 60,000 massed troops.

Yanks Meet Strong Opposition

The combined offensive by American Marines and soldiers of the battle-tested U. S. 24th Division was in the bitterly-contested bridgehead area where the Reds had put some 12,000 men across the Naktong about 20 air miles southwest of Taegu, key communications base.

The American offensive developed strong opposition.

Field dispatches and headquarters announcements gave this highlight picture of the battlefront from the south of the United Nations beachhead running around to the east coast:

Chinju — The U. S. Eighth Army released the delayed news that four days ago U. S. Marines who had driven to the outskirts of Chinju had been pulled back 27 miles to thicken the defense lines of the still outnumbered American forces.

Changnyong — U. S. Marines and Army infantry of the 24th Division launched a combined offensive against Red forces in a bulge on the east side of the Naktong River. To the north of the bulge, American reconnaissance action continued against other North Koreans who have crossed the Naktong.

U. S. Patrols Repulsed

Waegwan—U. S. First Cavalry division patrols were repulsed when they tried to cross the river and check on the 26 square mile sector blasted by 98 B-29s Wednesday. To the north of the First Cavalry, an undetermined force of North Koreans crossed the Naktong in a sector defended by South Koreans. Other South Koreans forces advanced 3,000 yards and occupied high ground — but still on the east side of the river.

Pohang — No reported change; Reds still held the east coast port city and United Nations clung to the inoperative airfield nearby. The Third South Korean Division, isolated between Red forces at Yongdok to the north and others which took Pohang, was evacuated in landing ships under cover of American planes and warship guns.

As the North Koreans made their new jab across the river line in the devastated Waegwan area, American patrols probed in an attempt to assess the full effect of 880 tons of 500-pound bombs lumped in precise pattern by the B-29s.

Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle with the U. S. First Cavalry Division on the Waegwan front said indications were the Reds still were strongly lodged in the target area. One patrol, he said, managed to move ahead three miles but could not reach the seven-by-three-mile bombing rectangle where the Reds had built up their forces for the big drive.

Leader Of VFW Blasts Johnson

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (AP) — VFW Commander Clyde A. Lewis accused Secretary of Defense Johnson tonight of having "gambled with the security of the United States in the name of vote getting 'economy' and lost."

For this, the national head of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said in a speech prepared for broadcast, "Mr. Johnson should go" and his "little oligarchy" in the Defense Department should go too.

"The war map, as of this moment, is sufficient proof to the average man of the gross incompetency of Louis Johnson," he said.

He declared his agreement with "some expert opinion" that adequate U. S. force, near at hand, would have stopped Russia from "egging on" her North Korean satellite to strike at South Korea.

Backers of the bill to wipe out the order said the Postoffice Department ought to do its saving in other places, not at the expense of poorer service to businessmen and to soldiers and their families.

Foes of the measure said not many people were complaining, that it was mostly mail order companies and a letter carriers' lobby.

DETAINED — Fashion Leader Elsa Schiaparelli (above) yesterday was detained and questioned by police at Nice, France, about some jewels she had reported stolen. She was stopped as she was about to board a plane for Tunis. She was later released after $1,485 in U. S. currency, found in her baggage, was confiscated.

Social Security Compromise Bill Okayed By House

Senate Will Take Up Measure Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—A vast expansion of social security got over the last big hurdle in Congress today. The House approved a compromise bill including a senate provision which the administration strongly opposes.

The big fight had been over that section, sponsored by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), so Senate approval of the version worked out in a Senate-House conference was taken for granted. The Senate is due to take up the measure tomorrow and leaders hope to get it on President Truman's desk by the end of the week.

The section in controversy sharply cuts down the authority of the Secretary of Labor to withhold unemployment compensation funds from a state when he holds that the state's compensation system fails to meet federal standards.

Broader sections of the bill, on which there has been much less disagreement, add some 10,000,000 persons to the 35,000,000 now covered by old age benefits; raise pensions of those now in the rolls by about 77½ per cent; approximately double payments for those retiring in the future; raise from $3,000 to $3,600 the amount of yearly pay taxed for social security, and start in 1954 a gradual rise from the present 1½ per cent to 3¼ per cent in the levy on workers and employer.

Yanks Launch Drive Against Enemy Bulge

Reds Cross River In Bomb-Hit Area

TOKYO, Thursday, Aug. 17 (AP) — Korean Red forces stabbed across the Naktong today where American Superfortresses hurled the greatest blow against ground troops since the Normandy invasion. To the South U. S. Army infantry and Marines launched an offensive against the menacing Red bulge east of the river near Changnyong.

The Marine role in the offensive was announced simultaneously with an Army-delayed disclosure that the leathernecks four days ago had to pull back 27 miles after their first offensive of the campaign—in the Chinju sector southwest of Changnyong.

The new communist crossing—in undetermined strength — was on the South Korean sector about five miles north of Waegwan, 12 air miles northwest of Taegu. This was in the area plastered yesterday by 98 big Boeing B-29s in an attempt to break up the Reds' projected biggest offensive of the war by 60,000 massed troops.

Yanks Meet Strong Opposition

The combined offensive by American Marines and soldiers of the battle-tested U. S. 24th Division was in the bitterly-contested bridgehead area where the Reds had put some 12,000 men across the Naktong about 20 air miles southwest of Taegu, key communications base.

The American offensive developed strong opposition.

Field dispatches and headquarters announcements gave this highlight picture of the battlefront from the south of the United Nations beachhead running around to the east coast:

Chinju — The U. S. Eighth Army released the delayed news that four days ago U. S. Marines who had driven to the outskirts of Chinju had been pulled back 27 miles to thicken the defense lines of the still outnumbered American forces.

Changnyong — U. S. Marines and Army infantry of the 24th Division launched a combined offensive against Red forces in a bulge on the east side of the Naktong River. To the north of the bulge, American reconnaissance action continued against other North Koreans who have crossed the Naktong.

U. S. Patrols Repulsed

Waegwan—U. S. First Cavalry division patrols were repulsed when they tried to cross the river and check on the 26 square mile sector blasted by 98 B-29s Wednesday. To the north of the First Cavalry, an undetermined force of North Koreans crossed the Naktong in a sector defended by South Koreans. Other South Koreans forces advanced 3,000 yards and occupied high ground — but still on the east side of the river.

Pohang — No reported change; Reds still held the east coast port city and United Nations clung to the inoperative airfield nearby. The Third South Korean Division, isolated between Red forces at Yongdok to the north and others which took Pohang, was evacuated in landing ships under cover of American planes and warship guns.

As the North Koreans made their new jab across the river line in the devastated Waegwan area, American patrols probed in an attempt to assess the full effect of 880 tons of 500-pound bombs lumped in precise pattern by the B-29s.

Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle with the U. S. First Cavalry Division on the Waegwan front said indications were the Reds still were strongly lodged in the target area. One patrol, he said, managed to move ahead three miles but could not reach the seven-by-three-mile bombing rectangle where the Reds had built up their forces for the big drive.

Plan For Gearing U. S. To Economic Controls Studied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — President Truman started passing out work assignments today to government agencies which will administer some parts of whatever economic controls Congress finally authorizes.

He met with heads of federal regulatory bodies at the White House as the Senate waded into another day of argument over the scope of the powers to be given the President for home front mobilization.

Another White House caller during the day was Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric and a key figure in gearing industry to the World War II effort.

Some of the biggest jobs in the economic mobilization effort already have been assigned, on the assumption that the lawmakers will give the President the powers he asked.

The Commerce Department gets allocations and priorities to channel scarce materials into defense production. The Federal Reserve Board gets credit controls to curb inflation.

But some other agencies will be in the picture too and their tasks were up for discussion in the White House session. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the conference was called to go over the roles of the agencies in "whatever emergency program may be set up."

Present were the heads of the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Communications Commission and other agencies.

Juvenile Court's Puzzling Problem

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 16 (AP) — The Indianapolis Juvenile Court which withholds the names of minors brought before it, is working on a baffling case.

The problem is to iron out difficulties between a husband and wife, married three years ago at the ages of 34 and 13, respectively.

Her husband complained he liked to visit friends and entertain them in return.

His wife, he added, just liked to go to a nearby playground and swing.

Flier, Stowaway Taken Off Batory

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 16 (AP)—British police yanked two Americans—a hitch-liking aviator and a stowaway—off the Polish liner Batory today and jailed them pending a check of fingerprints in Washington.

One is William Jesse Newton, 26-year-old mystery man who landed a rented seaplane in the Atlantic alongside the outbound liner more than 100 miles from New York Tuesday, Aug. 8.

The other is Howard Campbell, 29, Des Moines, Ia., who arrived in England as a stowaway for the second time in four months. He came ashore under arrest from the liner Queen Mary last May 4 and served 28 days on conviction of stowing away—a criminal charge in Britain. He declared then he was a communist organizer fleeing from U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Immigration officials indicated they were pretty well satisfied Campbell is a harmless eccentric. They were still studying Newton's case.

It was aboard the Batory, pride of Communist Poland, that Communist Gerhart Eisler fled New York in May, 1949. Eisler had jumped bail on a charge of making false statements in an application for a permit to enter the United States. A British court held the German-born stowaway was not extraditable under British law. He went on to Berlin, where he is now the communist propaganda chief of East Germany.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Will Stump For Son

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will take the stump in an effort to get her son James elected governor of California.

James Roosevelt disclosed this today, telling reporters his mother will speak in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Sept. 11 and 12.

UMW Denies It Violated T-H Act In Pact Dispute

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers denied today they violated the Taft-Hartley Act with four key demands in last winter's contract dispute.

Operators had accused them of using coercive methods in a drive to get illegal provisions into a contract.

Attorney Welly K. Hopkins, speaking for Lewis and the UMW, said there were "no must demands" in the 10 months of negotiations which were marked by strikes and finally ended with a contract March 5.

"All the issues and all the demands and all the requests were negotiable all of the time up to and including March 5," Hopkins told Trial Examiner Arthur Leff of the National Labor Relations Board.

Hearings on unfair labor practice complaints against the UMW were started today. The complaints were filed by all of the soft coal operators in dispute with Lewis last January when the contract fight was at its bitterest.

Hopkins insisted that the operators had asked General Counsel Robert N. Denham, prosecuting officer for the NLRB, to dismiss their complaints but he refused. The operators had made the request, Hopkins said, because the complaints were no longer important.

The new agreement either dropped or softened each of the four demands, involving the union shop, welfare fund benefits for UMW members only, memorial or mourning periods, and a provision that miners work only when "able and willing."

Leff refused Hopkins' motion to dismiss the case, however, and the hearing went ahead.

U. S. Criticizes British Rearmament Program

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP) — The United States has complained informally to Britain that her projected $9,520,000,000 program of rearmament against communism doesn't go far enough, diplomatic officials said tonight.

This information developed as Prime Minister Attlee rejected a demand from Conservative Leader Winston Churchill that Attlee convene parliament before Sept. 12 for urgent consideration of defense matters.

Attlee announced after a 90-minute conference with Churchill and Liberal Leader Clement Davies that he still felt the Sept. 12 date for calling parliament back from its summer recess would be most suitable. That date itself is more than a month ahead of schedule.

Korean Report To Be Given U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 16 (AP) — The United States will toss into the United Nations Korean debate tomorrow a new report on the critical military situation in Korea, a spokesman said today.

This will be the second report on the operations of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unified command and the first since Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik became president of the Security Council Aug. 1.

There was no advance information as to the content, but if it is anything like the previous report of July 25, diplomatic circles said, it is sure to touch off a bitter Soviet attack.

The report may give some evidence to back up charges that recently manufactured Soviet war materiels have been used by the Communist North Koreans.

A dispatch from the Korean front yesterday said U. N. observers had been given 122 grenades, a submarine gun and other small arms manufactured in 1949 and 1950 and bearing Russian markings. Malik told the council last week Russia has not supplied any arms to North Korea since 1948.

Korea Claims Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — President Truman asked Congress today for $3,500,000 to reimburse U. S. civilians for losses sustained when they had to flee from Korea.

Soviet-Red China Aid Agreement Reported

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 16 (AP) — A military aid agreement between Soviet Russia and Red China which would send 150,000 Chinese communist troops into the Korean war was reported by Chinese Nationalist sources.

The unconfirmed reports said the Red China manpower would be used if the North Koreans are slammed back to the 38th parallel, the legal dividing line between North and South Korea.

Lightning Kills Five

DECATUR, Ala., Aug. 16 (AP)—Thunderstorms in Alabama yesterday hurled lightning bolts that killed five persons and injured two others.

Even the shelter of a storm cellar and a metal-roofed car shed failed to protect the victims from the powerful charges.

Star In Movie Wife Roles Files For Mexican Divorce

MYRNA LOY

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16 (AP) — Myrna Loy, star in many movie wife roles, has filed for a Mexican divorce from the producer, Gene Markey.

Her attorney said she signed the petition in Cuernavaca yesterday. She charged mental cruelty.

Attorney Francisco Lopez Figueroa said Markey has agreed to the divorce. The couple have been separated six months.

Markey, last reported in London, is represented by Attorney Antonio Valenzuela. The actress' attorney said property settlement had been arranged. This speeds the Mexican divorce action.

Miss Loy and Markey were married at San Pedro, Calif., Jan. 3, 1946.

Schiaparelli Is Questioned In Reported Theft Of Gems

NICE, France, Aug. 16 (AP)—Police today detained Modiste Elsa Schiaparelli and questioned her for hours about some jewels she had reported stolen. She was released tonight and police said no charges would be placed against her, but that they would confiscate $1,485 in U. S. currency.

One of the world's leading designers of women's clothing, Schiaparelli was stopped by police as she was about to board a plane for Tunis. She reported on Aug. that jewels worth 3,000,000 francs (about $8,500) had been stolen from her. Police said some of these jewels were found in her luggage today.

Police said they found the $1,485 while searching her baggage. Schiaparelli, police said, will have to pay an administrative fine equal to $148.50 for failing to declare the money.

The 53-year-old fashion leader told newsmen that she had found in the bottom of a bureau drawer three of four pieces of jewelry she had reported stolen, but that the most valuable piece actually was stolen.

Leader Of VFW Blasts Johnson

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (AP) — VFW Commander Clyde A. Lewis accused Secretary of Defense Johnson tonight of having "gambled with the security of the United States in the name of vote getting 'economy' and lost."

For this, the national head of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said in a speech prepared for broadcast, "Mr. Johnson should go" and his "little oligarchy" in the Defense Department should go too.

"The war map, as of this moment, is sufficient proof to the average man of the gross incompetency of Louis Johnson," he said.

He declared his agreement with "some expert opinion" that adequate U. S. force, near at hand, would have stopped Russia from "egging on" her North Korean satellite to strike at South Korea.

Goldfish Races Make Debut; SPCA Chapter Is Incensed

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP) —Horse races are old stuff. Dog races are common. Now it's goldfish races on the boardwalk of this seashore resort.

An amusement pavilion started it. The goldfish are placed at one end of long, transparent water-filled tubes. The customers manipulate a plastic fish inside the tube.

This scares the daylights out of the live fish, who then wriggle through the tubes. First one to reach the other end wins.

But the Monmouth County Chapter of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is incensed.

Mrs. William Guillium, secretary of the county SPCA, today said "it appears obvious that the fish are overworked and may become groggy. Some die."

Herman D. Post, who designed the game, took sharp exception. His device, he said, is "scientifically designed to prevent the fish from being harmed. When a fish seems tired or listless, it is immediately placed in a special water tank to rest and another and fresher one is put in its place."

After all, Post added, "the fish are required to do something that is only natural, and that's to swim."

Motorcycle Thrill Show Rider Killed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 16 (AP)—A motorcycle thrill show rider died today of injuries suffered in a spill before 300 spectators at the Illinois State Fair last night.

Philip Lease, 32, York, Pa., sustained a skull fracture and succumbed nine hours later in St. John's Hospital.

Lease was performing in a show billed as "The Wall of Death" staged in a small hippodrome. Riders spin round a steeply banked, circular track which becomes nearly vertical in its upper portion.

Traveling near the rim at a 60 mile clip, Lease lost control of his motorcycle and plunged to the bottom of the arena.

Tax-Framers Move To Speed Rearmament

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—In a move to quicken rearmament, the Senate Finance Committee today voted special tax treatment for industries which build factories or buy equipment to produce for the armed forces.

It decided to revive the World War II provision calling for "accelerated amortization" for such emergency facilities. The cost of a new arms-producing building, for example, could be amortized in five years for tax purposes.

This means that the owners of factory could deduct 20 per cent of its cost from gross income in each of the five years, before they compute their income taxes. Under existing law such amortization might have to be spread over 20 years or more.

Truman Pays Tribute To Gen. San Martin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — President Truman paid tribute today to Gen. Jose De San Martin, South American hero, as one whose name "represents the American ideal of democracy, justice and liberty."

The President issued a statement in connection with the observance tomorrow of the 100th anniversary of the death of the liberator.

San Martin is one of the President's favorite heroes of history. Mr. Truman has in his office a statue of the founder of Argentine independence, who led a liberating army across the Andes, and gave freedom to Chile and Peru.

Rent Control May End Here

Rent control in Cumberland will die on December 31 unless some action is taken here to keep it in force, according to David Kauffman, chairman of the local Rent Control Board.

Control can be continued by passage of a resolution by the City Council or by popular referendum. Only the city continues on rent control, the rest of the county is without it.

The local board now has only five members due to the death on August 1 of William J. Jones, 122 Hanover Street. Kauffman said he has notified the Rent Authority office of the vacancy, and the appointment of some one to fill the post will have to be made by Governor Lane.

In addition to Kauffman, other members of the board are Charles Beard and Ralph Race.

Kauffman pointed out that the Housing and Rent Act of 1950 not only continues rent control in all areas under control for six months only, but also continues veterans' preference in the purchase or rental of new construction.

Under this provision, World War II veterans are given 30-days preference to buy or rent new housing not constructed for owner occupancy.

Kauffman explained that, as in the previous law, local rent control may be extended any time between July 1, 1950 and June 30, 1951, by a resolution of the Council after public hearings or by recommendations of the Rent Advisory Board substantiating a finding that the need for housing has been reasonably met.

A CONCRETE BARNYARD

helps you raise more beef with less feed and labor

Many farmers are paving their feed lots with concrete as a means of increasing their profits on beef and pork production. A concrete paved lot saves feed and labor—leaves more feed for pigs following cattle—saves manure.

Authorities say a concrete feed lot is worth $7 a head per year in direct savings.

A concrete pavement will last a lifetime, and the cost is surprisingly low.

If you need help, get in touch with your concrete contractor, ready-mixed concrete producer or building material dealer.

Molotov's Peiping Visit May Indicate Trouble

It is reported that Molotov is in Peiping. Number Two in the Soviet Hierarchy doesn't travel that far from his home base without compelling reason, and one may be sure that his visit bodes no good for the United States. What is in the wind?

The relations between Russia and Mao Tzetung's government in China are not too well understood in the United States. Moscow naturally wants to use Mao as a puppet. But the Politburo is aware that Mao rules more people than there are in all Russia; that he has an excellent land army, second only to Russia's in size; that he is a long way from Moscow; and that he does not need Russian support to remain in power. These are all factors that might sooner or later prompt him to take an independent course.

But Mao cannot be happy about recent Russian policy. He was all but ready to invade Formosa, where he faced the prospect of no outside interference. Then Russia reached out for Korea—which she has always wanted to hold along with Manchuria, a province now more under her control than under Mao's. This, she must have assured Mao, would not interfere with his plans for Formosa.

It did, though. Mao will now have to fight the U. S. Seventh Fleet or let Formosa go for the present. He faces the prospect, moreover, of seeing Formosa put under a UN trusteeship. His present feelings toward the Kremlin cannot be wholly approving.

Molotov's job is to make sure Mao won't stray from the fold. Can he do that by offering to lend-lease Mao Russian submarines and planes for the invasion of Formosa? Or will Mao realize that such efforts to embroil him with the United States run counter to his and China's interests?

No one knows—yet. But it is certain that American policy should be attuned to these natural differences in national interest between China and Russia.

Those who thought all America needed was an air force now place heavy reliance upon the boots of the infantry.

Feeding The World

Every people in the world, including the presumably well fed Americans, would change their diet if the world food goals of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization were realized. The experts on the organization staff are not concerned about how much Americans eat, but about what we eat. Their charts say that the average calory intake for Americans is satisfactory, but our diet contains too much sugar and fats, not enough fruit, vegetables, meat, fish, eggs and milk.

The United Nations study finds a similar situation—enough calories but the wrong assortment of foods—in Oceania, three nations of South America, Scandinavia, the British Isles and surprisingly Russia and all of Europe except the southern segment of the continent. In all of the rest of the world the average daily food intake is less than the experts figure it should be, and nowhere is there a diet which is regarded as satisfactory. In almost all cases the diet is said to have enough or too much of carbohydrate foods, not enough of protein foods, which are generally more expensive.

Proposals to deal with the problem are as yet vague and sketchy, but one reassuring point has emerged. The Food and Agriculture Organization experts do not believe that the solution is to take food from those who have it and give it to those who lack it. They see the problem as the production of more food, and think that total world output can be doubled. The next problem would be to distribute the food. If that could be done on a paying basis, the United States might happily find itself relieved of its troublesome food surplus problems.

Psychologist says a woman who considers herself well-dresed can't be unhappy. Still, she wants to be reassured about it occasionally.

Meteorite And Earth

There is reassurance in contemplation that the giant crater which has been discovered far north in Quebec likely was made by a huge meteorite which struck the earth some three to five thousand years ago. If meteorite it was, the force of its impact must have utterly dwarfed the greatest force scientists have been able to manufacture with atomic explosives. Yet its crater, two and a half miles across, is but a pinprick on the surface of the earth, and the only remaining marks of that terrific force are the crater itself and the ripples in the granite around it. To be sure this occurred in an area of the earth which is deserted because of its climate. But even had it happened in a spot of dense population and high development, its effects in the time of a few generations would similarly have dwindled to a hole in the ground and ripples in the stone.

Here is a comforting thought for those moments when we fear that man, tinkering with the explosive energy of atoms, may some day blow up the earth and himself with it. Man may blow up himself, but it is quite improbable that he will blow up his earth. The earth, physically, is a very solid and secure establishment, and in relation to the life span of a man it is unchanging. If we could impart to our own human operations something of the solidity and stability of the earth, we should have little to fear.

When letting off steam, it's prudent to be careful of your aim.

Air And Steel

A beam of steel is a common symbol of strength, sturdiness and durability. The touch of air is so soft that it can scarcely be felt against the cheek. Yet the air, with a bit of moisture, can destroy the steel.

Metallurgists still seek a way to make steel proof against rust, without adding inordinately to the cost or complexity of manufacture. Fame and fortune wait for the one who discovers the way to do it. Meanwhile the steel beam must have, throughout its useful life, a protective coating of paint or some other substance, to keep the air and moisture from getting in their work.

The strength of our democratic institutions is often likened to that of steel, and the analogy may apply to the possibility of decay as well. There is a constant threat, as soft and insidious as the touch of air on steel, from those who figure that everything is all right—"They don't need my vote, or my help to put over that idea." How can democracy be protected from the tiny, almost unseen fleck of beginning corrosion which is the indifference of a single individual to the duties of citizenship?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Enlarged Abdomen In Children

ALL INFANTS are blessed with a protruding "tummy." This is a normal phenomenon and parents need not be alarmed. It begins to disappear by the age of 2 years when the muscles of the abdomen become stronger through exercise co-incident with walking. On the other hand, should the bay window persist or continue to enlarge, it is advisable to consult a physician.

Now and then posture is responsible. In such circumstances the protuberance goes along with rounded shoulders and other signs of bad posture. Fatigue is a common cause, particularly in this day and age when children are given too much to do and too little time to rest. Occasionally parents are at fault by not insisting upon better posture. It is a bad habit that can be corrected through training.

But the pot belly may also be an abnormal sign. Hirschsprung's disease (megacolon) is one of the best examples along this line. It starts a year or two after birth as marked enlargement of the intestines caused by narrowing of the lower bowel. The obstruction stems from tightening or constriction of a segment of bowel as a result of abnormal nerve stimulation. No one knows why the nervous system goes berserk in this fashion but it has not been too serious considering that a good remedy is available.

Constipation is one of the earliest symptoms and parents often remark that it developed at the same time the abdomen began to dilate. The abdominal swelling becomes enormous and the greatest circumference usually is just above the navel. Gas and the accumulation of waste material are responsible for the fullness. Constipation rarely responds to the ordinary treatment and hence many go without an evacuation for days and even weeks. Indigestion may be present in periods when distention is at its peak. But despite the bowel enlargement, the majority are in good health.

Now and then spontaneous recovery takes place. Borderline cases may be controlled by diet and lubricants. Many of these children outgrow the disturbance by the time they reach puberty. Most of them, however, are helped with drugs such as prostigmine, atropine, and mecholyl, which have a direct effect upon the sympathetic nervous system. When medication fails the surgical procedure in which certain nerves in the abdomen are severed (sympathectomy) is advocated.

Children also develop tumors and now and then a cyst or an enlarged liver or spleen is responsible for abdominal swelling. One of the most unusual is Wilm's tumor of the kidney, a cancerous condition that develops prior to birth. A cure is possible, provided the kidney is removed before the malignant tissue has had a chance to spread. As a result surgery should never be delayed after the diagnosis has been made. In a large series of cases one-half of the children were saved when the operation was done during the first year of life.

DARK PLAQUES

M. B. writes: I'm 62 years old and during the past few years numerous freckle like spots have appeared on my face and the backs of the hands. Can these blemishes be removed safely or should they be left alone?

•—•—•

REPLY

There are many origins of discolorations of the skin, and the method of treatment depends upon the cause. At your age all skin changes should be investigated by a physician, especially lesions that are rough. The spots may be of no significance but it is better to be on the safe side.

•—•—•

STRAY GRAY HAIR

Mrs. E. R. writes: I found a few gray hairs in the head of my 8 year old daughter. Are these just strays or will the condition progress?

REPLY

The chances are good that graying will not progress beyond this, at least in childhood. Occasionally youngsters this age exhibit a streak of depigmented hair. This should not be confused with the graying process.

•—•—•

LIP COLOR

G. F. writes: What causes cherry red lips?

REPLY

Carbon monoxide or oleander poisoning and certain forms of anemia. Cherry red lipstick and eating peppermint sticks can do the same.

•—•—•

RUSTY NAIL

J. C. writes: Is it true that there is no danger of infection from stepping on a rusty nail?

REPLY

This is not true. A rusty nail can carry just as many organisms as one that is shiny. The rust itself is not important; any puncture wound is potentially dangerous.

GOP-Dixiecrat Alliance Plots To Control Congress By '52; Realignment Would Create New Party; Citizens Committee Is "Front" Organization

Say JACK ANDERSON and FRED BLUMENTHAL

WASHINGTON.—Right-wing Republicans and Dixiecrats are secretely plotting a political alliance to capture control of Congress by 1952, then to take over the Electoral College—key to the presidency. We have documentary proof of this daring plan, which already has the secret backing of nationally known conservatives.

In brief, the plan calls for Republicans and Southern Democrats to join forces without changing party affiliations. However, they would merge their seniority and run Congress jointly. Then the next step would be to organize a similar coalition to dominate the Electoral College and name a conservative president.

The ringleader of this amazing plot is a stocky, ruddy-faced North Carolinian, named J. Harvie Williams. Though comparatively unknown, he claims to have the support of such GOP leaders as Senators Karl Mundt of South Dakota and John Bricker of Ohio, Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana and Frederick Coudert of New York; also such Southern stalwarts as Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia and Dick Russell of Georgia, Congressman Gene Sox of Georgia, and Dixiecrat Governor-Elect James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Painstaking Plan

Williams has set forth his so-called "political realignment" plan in painstaking detail in a series of "strictly confidential" memos, which are also marked: "Please do not discuss outside sympathetic circles."

"Our plan for political realignment is a simple one," he writes. "It involves nothing more than a formal alliance between Republicans and Southern Democrats in the Senate, in the House and in the Electoral College."

Of the 64 senators in the Republican-Southern bloc, Williams calculates that three Southerners and seven Republican senators would refuse to join the alliance. This would still leave a majority of 54 seats to 42. In the House, he expects to lose 21 Republicans and 13 Southerners, giving the coalition control of the House by a 240-to-195 margin.

Williams explains: "In effect, this realignment would create a new party, but without the necessity of any change of party names. This realignment is legally possible now. The rules of the Senate and the rules of the House speak of the majority and of the minority rather than of Democrats and Republicans; and members of Congress are elected under the election laws of the 48 states.

"Similarly," he continues, "presidential electors are elected under the laws of the several states. The 1948 'secession' of the Democratic parties in four Southern states indicates the method and the possibilities of extending re-alignment into the election of the President."

"Front" Organization

Williams has already formed a "front" organization to carry out his plan. He calls it the citizens political committee, though he admits frankly, its title does not disclose its purpose." Williams uses the Remington Rand Company, Room 1200, 314 Fourth Avenue, New York City as a headquarters—though he is not now on Remington Rand's payroll.

In a private letter, dated May 13, Williams names ex-Senator Albert Hawkes of New Jersey as the leading money raiser.

Senator Hawkes has agreed to handle that (money raising) for us," Williams writes. "I am not going to initiate any new prospects, and have turned over to Hawkes the names of the men he knows whom I've seen or corresponded with on the subject."

In another letter, dated May 1, Williams also writes: "Two things need to be done to put the realignment proposal in shape for presentation to a group for substantial support (about $200,000 for a one-year budget). Harold E. Talbot has agreed to arrange that group meeting. The two things are required by Southern Senate leaders. They are: (1) A rather detailed plan for the joint-nomination in 1952, and (2) a merging on paper of committee seniorities of Republicans and Southern Democrats."

Congressional Reaction

As a sample of private congressional reaction, Williams received a letter from Senator Mundt, dated May 16, and addressed "Dear Harvie."

"I am still inclined to believe that the merger at the congressional level has too many practical barriers to make it feasible at this junction and that the most realistic approach is one which would handle this matter in the Electoral College," the Senator from South Dakota suggested.

NOTE—Williams' political thesis is that the United States is now a nation of "mongrels" with most of the "alien" elements concentrated in the urban North. His basis for realignment is a geographic unification of "white, English-speaking stocks" to elect a "conservative president." For this post, Williams favors Senator Bricker or possibly Senator Byrd.

Secret Poll

Jimmy Roosevelt, now running for Governor of California, is frustrated over a secret public-opinion poll he took the other day. It revealed that 30 per cent of California's Democrats think Jimmy's opponent, Governor Warren, is a Democrat

When asked about the poll, Roosevelt grinned:

"I don't want to run a smear campaign, but I'm determined to expose Warren's affiliation with the Republican party."

Impressive Handshake

Genial William "Fishbait" Miller, doorkeeper of the House, is a great favorite with children, especially those of his Sunday School class at the Fountain Memorial Baptist Church in Washington.

After each service Miller stands outside the church and shakes hands with the youngsters. One little three-year-old girl, who had just attended her first Sunday School, rushed home to tell her father all about it.

"Guess what, daddy!" she exclaimed. "I got to shake hands with God."

The Battle: Second Phase

WITH THE UNITED STATES FORCES IN KOREA

AS these words are written, the enemy is plainly massing for a great attack which may force another general withdrawal or even break for good the thin, almost unsupported line guarding our Korean beachhead. Measured by this threat, the American success in the fighting on the Chinju approaches has no great immediate importance; and if withdrawal comes, we may even have to give up again the ground our men fought so hard to gain.

None the less, it seems worthwhile to complete the report of this first offensive action by our forces in Korea, which was begun earlier in this space. It has already been told how the first two days of our drive in the southeast were days of bitter frustration, with the enemy pinning down our main forces, our supply cut by road-blocks and sniper fire, and a heavy toll being taken of our men by the cruel mountain warfare.

On the evening of the offensive's second day, Aug. 8, the whole effort was still halted by the failure of their spearhead unit, the 5th Regimental Combat Team, to move down the coastal road that is the main approach to Chinju. The stalled 5th Regimental Combat Team blocked the 1st Marine Brigade from going. And on the inland road that was the second attack route, the 35th Regimental Combat Team had also been forced to halt after reaching its initial objectives, for fear of getting too far ahead of the other units. Moreover the 5th Regimental Combat Team, which has been thrown into this offensive without any previous experience of combat, had already made two attacks that day without gaining much ground.

Had No Alternative

In these unpromising circumstances, the commander of the American task force, Maj. Gen. William B. Kean, had no alternative but to drive his men. When the failure of the 5th Regimental Combat Team's afternoon attack was reported to him, he grimly ordered still a third attack to begin at 9 p. m., and stringently required the 5th's commander, Col. Godwin Ordway, Jr., to reach his main objective—high ground where the Chinju road traverses a pass—at all costs.

Thus in the last moment of dusk, when forms along the roadside were mere gray shapes, the weary men entered their vehicles and began the move forward. Artillery and tanks, (which in this unfavorable countryside must be used almost wholly as mobile guns) began to soften up the enemy lodgements. While the big guns roared in the darkness, the men left their vehicles and toiled up the mountainside to dislodge the North Koreans from the crest. This time, the resistance collapsed in a rattle of firing. The 5th Regimental Combat Team had broken through, and so rolled forward.

Such was the turning point. The whole enemy resistance on Aug. 7 and 8 had in fact been carried on by isolated groups of North Korean soldiers holding commanding mountain peaks, assisted by other mobile groups carrying on harassing attacks upon the American positions, or infiltrating behind the lines to cut the vital road supply routes. When the key peaks had been taken, there was little enemy strength behind them. Moreover the infiltrators, who are miscalled guerrillas, were forced by their dependence on supply by runner to fall back hastily; and while sniper fire and attempts to form road-blocks rapidly began in the immediate rear of our new front, the section of road that had been formerly so troubled became as peaceful as a country lane.

Despite these improving prospects, there was anger and dismay at headquarters on the morning of Aug. 9, for the 5th Regimental Combat Team, having reported full success, had really halted by mistake only halfway to its goal. Yet the way was now open for the 1st Marine Brigade to go through, down its destined track among the sea cliffs. And while the Marines prepared to move, Gen. Kean hurried to the front to take personal command of the continuing drive of the 5th Regimental Combat Team.

Slight Resistance

Most of that day's gains were in fact made, against slight resistance, by the 5th and 35th Regimental Combat Teams, the latter pushing down its upper road to meet its comrade unit. Yet the memorable sight was the take-off of the Marines. It was afternoon when the 1st Marine Battalion led off with three heavy tanks lumbering in the forefront. As the first tank rounded a shoulder of the curving sea cliff and was silhouetted against the blue bay beyond, the late, deep-golden sun struck all the long, quickly marching files of men wending along the mountain track for a full mile behind.

And even more moving than this unreal beauty, was to see the Marine's 3rd Battalion get ready in its turn. Here there was no picture—a huddle of men in the lee of a hill were merely clustering around the water trucks or cleaning their weapons or sleeping in the ditch. But these same men had only just been

Reds Frequently Break '33 Agreement With U. S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—An overwhelming number of members of Congress will vote to ban the activities of communists inside the United States on the theory that the latter are agents of or inspired by the Moscow government. But, strangely enough, no group has arisen in Congress to demand that diplomatic recognition of the Soviet government be withdrawn for that reason.

Yet, on November 16, 1933, the Soviet Union made the specific agreement with the government of the United States in which a pledge was given that there would be no attempt by the Russian government to foster the continuance of communist organizations or individuals inside the United States.

The agreement—which was formally signed by Maxim M. Litninoff, minister for foreign affairs of the Soviet Union, and by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a condition for the extension of recognition— read in part as follows:

"It will be the fixed policy of the Government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics:

No Interference

"1. To respect scrupulously the indisputable right of the United States to order its own life within its own jurisdiction in its own way and to refrain from interfering in any manner in the internal affairs of the United States, its territories or possessions.

"2. To refrain, and to restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government or under its direct or indirect control, including organizations in receipt of any financial assistance from it, from any act overt or covert liable in any way whatsoever to injure the tranquility, prosperity, order, or security of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions, and, in particular, from any act tending to incite or encourage armed intervention, or any agitation or propaganda having as an aim, the violation of the territorial integrity of the United States, its terrorities or possessions, or the bringing about by force of a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions."

Two additional provisions of the same agreement stated that the Soviet government would not allow the formation on its own territory of any organization or group "which has as an aim the overthrow or the preparation for the overthrow of, or the bringing about by force of a change in, the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions."

This agreement has been repeatedly violated. The arrests recently of espionage agents who confess to be working for the Soviet government is paralleled by the arrest of communists who have been stirring up trouble in various ways inside the United States in industrial plants. Also communists have infiltrated into our governmental agencies for the purpose of serving the Soviet government.

Treat Infection At Source

The United States can treat this infection at the source—it can withdraw diplomatic recognition on the ground that the Soviet government has violated its explicit agreement of 1933.

By withdrawing recognition, the United States can at the same time serve notice on various satellite states that the time has come to draw a line between governments purporting to represent them and the peoples of those countries with whom, of course, America desires to remain friendly.

The United Nations once adopted a resolution calling on its members to withdraw recognition from Spain. That precedent can be invoked now as one of the important members—the United States—reveals that the Russian government is not willing to honor its international obligations. The question of admitting China's government also becomes academic. For, as long as communist China is under the control of the Moscow government, it is difficult to see how Great Britain or any other country which has extended recognition to the government of communist China can continue to maintain diplomatic relations.

Once the Kremlin's tie with the Western world has been severed, the way is open to appeal to the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite countries to prepare the way for new governments that can be admitted into the family of nations.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Private Responsibility

IN TIME OF war, it is not unusual for a people to become deeply concerned over details. Where is Pusan? What did Averell Harriman say to General MacArthur?

All this is interesting, but it divorces the mind from our major problem—the answer to which will decide what our world will be, no matter whether battles are won or lost.

Obviously something happened between the years 1914 and 1950 which altered the course of Western civilization and of American history and life. That alteration has not been for the better. It has brought us, to date, three general wars and an economic dislocation of great depth. Its social consequences are just beginning to appear in the changed character of our family life.

Walter Hoving merchant, put it this way:

"Why are we so confused? Is it possibly because so many of our basic beliefs were under fire during the first half of the twentieth century? Beliefs that we used to take for granted suffered from constant and vigorous attack. Take our religious beliefs for example. The initial assault on religion came from science. Science set itself up as having an omnipotence of its own. Many people instead of recognizing that science was merely discovering the laws of God were led to believe that science itself was God. They were made to feel that the spiritual basis for the universe was old-fashioned and obsolete."

This is a clinical diagnosis of a deep social illness, namely, that the vast accumulation of unrelated data has had the effect of separating us from the essential characteristic of Western civilization, which is, private, personal, individual responsibility.

But what it comes to is that not a majority, or a mass or a mob, or a committee, nor even a minority, can assum responsibility for the conduct of the individual in the presence of God.

This concept of personal responsibility had the broadest historical consequences, for it evoked the doctrine of personal liberty and of political and economic freedom, On the political side, it destroyed the concept of despotism and established the principle that a good government is one in which the choice is made, in an orderly fashion, by the people themselves. On the economic side, it produced capitalism.

By whatever name, private enterprise, free enterprise, profit and loss system, capitalism is the economic consequence of a philosophic system of personal rather than mass responsibility. It is one man standing alone to do what he can and must, assuming all the liabilities, risking his future, accepting the benefits, whatever they may be.

This system, whatever its advantages or defects, cannot exist at all if government or any other communal agency rejects the responsibility of the individual for his choices, his decisions and his conduct. For instance, such a system cannot exist in a prison or an asylum or even when, in despair or for power, men are forced to go to war.

Under such conditions, a despotism appears—either the despotism of the person, or of an oligarchy or a mob. The individual is not only repressed; he is actually suppressed as a nuisance. Whoever controls force and power, controls man. The individual not only may not do according to his choice; he may not think without consent.

Thus, Zhdanov was able to dictate the character of newly-written music; and now Stalin is messing about with the propriety of words. Dictators operate not only in the political and economy realm; they would fashion all men to their tastes and destroy those who displease them.

Walter Hoving makes this interesting point:

"One of the most tragic consequences of all this is that we have even lost our deep seated belief in freedom itself. Although we still use the word, its connotation has changed. We have substituted for freedom a sort of parasitical security. For example, many people number among the so-called four freedoms two new ones . . . they are the freedom from want and the freedom from fear. These, of course, are not freedoms at all, but securities."

For every benefit, there must be a compensatory payment or even sacrifice. Therefore, to obtain extraordinary securities, freedoms have to be curtailed or sacrificed entirely. Guaranteed existence, which is called security, can only mean a lessening or the elimination of personal responsibility. This is the essential danger of our era.

Molotov's Peiping Visit May Indicate Trouble

It is reported that Molotov is in Peiping. Number Two in the Soviet Hierarchy doesn't travel that far from his home base without compelling reason, and one may be sure that his visit bodes no good for the United States. What is in the wind?

The relations between Russia and Mao Tzetung's government in China are not too well understood in the United States. Moscow naturally wants to use Mao as a puppet. But the Politburo is aware that Mao rules more people than there are in all Russia; that he has an excellent land army, second only to Russia's in size; that he is a long way from Moscow; and that he does not need Russian support to remain in power. These are all factors that might sooner or later prompt him to take an independent course.

But Mao cannot be happy about recent Russian policy. He was all but ready to invade Formosa, where he faced the prospect of no outside interference. Then Russia reached out for Korea—which she has always wanted to hold along with Manchuria, a province now more under her control than under Mao's. This, she must have assured Mao, would not interfere with his plans for Formosa.

It did, though. Mao will now have to fight the U. S. Seventh Fleet or let Formosa go for the present. He faces the prospect, moreover, of seeing Formosa put under a UN trusteeship. His present feelings toward the Kremlin cannot be wholly approving.

Molotov's job is to make sure Mao won't stray from the fold. Can he do that by offering to lend-lease Mao Russian submarines and planes for the invasion of Formosa? Or will Mao realize that such efforts to embroil him with the United States run counter to his and China's interests?

No one knows—yet. But it is certain that American policy should be attuned to these natural differences in national interest between China and Russia.

Those who thought all America needed was an air force now place heavy reliance upon the boots of the infantry.

Feeding The World

Every people in the world, including the presumably well fed Americans, would change their diet if the world food goals of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization were realized. The experts on the organization staff are not concerned about how much Americans eat, but about what we eat. Their charts say that the average calory intake for Americans is satisfactory, but our diet contains too much sugar and fats, not enough fruit, vegetables, meat, fish, eggs and milk.

The United Nations study finds a similar situation—enough calories but the wrong assortment of foods—in Oceania, three nations of South America, Scandinavia, the British Isles and surprisingly Russia and all of Europe except the southern segment of the continent. In all of the rest of the world the average daily food intake is less than the experts figure it should be, and nowhere is there a diet which is regarded as satisfactory. In almost all cases the diet is said to have enough or too much of carbohydrate foods, not enough of protein foods, which are generally more expensive.

Proposals to deal with the problem are as yet vague and sketchy, but one reassuring point has emerged. The Food and Agriculture Organization experts do not believe that the solution is to take food from those who have it and give it to those who lack it. They see the problem as the production of more food, and think that total world output can be doubled. The next problem would be to distribute the food. If that could be done on a paying basis, the United States might happily find itself relieved of its troublesome food surplus problems.

Psychologist says a woman who considers herself well-dresed can't be unhappy. Still, she wants to be reassured about it occasionally.

Meteorite And Earth

There is reassurance in contemplation that the giant crater which has been discovered far north in Quebec likely was made by a huge meteorite which struck the earth some three to five thousand years ago. If meteorite it was, the force of its impact must have utterly dwarfed the greatest force scientists have been able to manufacture with atomic explosives. Yet its crater, two and a half miles across, is but a pinprick on the surface of the earth, and the only remaining marks of that terrific force are the crater itself and the ripples in the granite around it. To be sure this occurred in an area of the earth which is deserted because of its climate. But even had it happened in a spot of dense population and high development, its effects in the time of a few generations would similarly have dwindled to a hole in the ground and ripples in the stone.

Here is a comforting thought for those moments when we fear that man, tinkering with the explosive energy of atoms, may some day blow up the earth and himself with it. Man may blow up himself, but it is quite improbable that he will blow up his earth. The earth, physically, is a very solid and secure establishment, and in relation to the life span of a man it is unchanging. If we could impart to our own human operations something of the solidity and stability of the earth, we should have little to fear.

When letting off steam, it's prudent to be careful of your aim.

Air And Steel

A beam of steel is a common symbol of strength, sturdiness and durability. The touch of air is so soft that it can scarcely be felt against the cheek. Yet the air, with a bit of moisture, can destroy the steel.

Metallurgists still seek a way to make steel proof against rust, without adding inordinately to the cost or complexity of manufacture. Fame and fortune wait for the one who discovers the way to do it. Meanwhile the steel beam must have, throughout its useful life, a protective coating of paint or some other substance, to keep the air and moisture from getting in their work.

The strength of our democratic institutions is often likened to that of steel, and the analogy may apply to the possibility of decay as well. There is a constant threat, as soft and insidious as the touch of air on steel, from those who figure that everything is all right—"They don't need my vote, or my help to put over that idea." How can democracy be protected from the tiny, almost unseen fleck of beginning corrosion which is the indifference of a single individual to the duties of citizenship?

Enlarged Abdomen In Children

ALL INFANTS are blessed with a protruding "tummy." This is a normal phenomenon and parents need not be alarmed. It begins to disappear by the age of 2 years when the muscles of the abdomen become stronger through exercise co-incident with walking. On the other hand, should the bay window persist or continue to enlarge, it is advisable to consult a physician.

Now and then posture is responsible. In such circumstances the protuberance goes along with rounded shoulders and other signs of bad posture. Fatigue is a common cause, particularly in this day and age when children are given too much to do and too little time to rest. Occasionally parents are at fault by not insisting upon better posture. It is a bad habit that can be corrected through training.

But the pot belly may also be an abnormal sign. Hirschsprung's disease (megacolon) is one of the best examples along this line. It starts a year or two after birth as marked enlargement of the intestines caused by narrowing of the lower bowel. The obstruction stems from tightening or constriction of a segment of bowel as a result of abnormal nerve stimulation. No one knows why the nervous system goes berserk in this fashion but it has not been too serious considering that a good remedy is available.

Constipation is one of the earliest symptoms and parents often remark that it developed at the same time the abdomen began to dilate. The abdominal swelling becomes enormous and the greatest circumference usually is just above the navel. Gas and the accumulation of waste material are responsible for the fullness. Constipation rarely responds to the ordinary treatment and hence many go without an evacuation for days and even weeks. Indigestion may be present in periods when distention is at its peak. But despite the bowel enlargement, the majority are in good health.

Now and then spontaneous recovery takes place. Borderline cases may be controlled by diet and lubricants. Many of these children outgrow the disturbance by the time they reach puberty. Most of them, however, are helped with drugs such as prostigmine, atropine, and mecholyl, which have a direct effect upon the sympathetic nervous system. When medication fails the surgical procedure in which certain nerves in the abdomen are severed (sympathectomy) is advocated.

Children also develop tumors and now and then a cyst or an enlarged liver or spleen is responsible for abdominal swelling. One of the most unusual is Wilm's tumor of the kidney, a cancerous condition that develops prior to birth. A cure is possible, provided the kidney is removed before the malignant tissue has had a chance to spread. As a result surgery should never be delayed after the diagnosis has been made. In a large series of cases one-half of the children were saved when the operation was done during the first year of life.

DARK PLAQUES

M. B. writes: I'm 62 years old and during the past few years numerous freckle like spots have appeared on my face and the backs of the hands. Can these blemishes be removed safely or should they be left alone?

•—•—•

REPLY

There are many origins of discolorations of the skin, and the method of treatment depends upon the cause. At your age all skin changes should be investigated by a physician, especially lesions that are rough. The spots may be of no significance but it is better to be on the safe side.

STRAY GRAY HAIR

Mrs. E. R. writes: I found a few gray hairs in the head of my 8 year old daughter. Are these just strays or will the condition progress?

REPLY

The chances are good that graying will not progress beyond this, at least in childhood. Occasionally youngsters this age exhibit a streak of depigmented hair. This should not be confused with the graying process.

LIP COLOR

REPLY

Carbon monoxide or oleander poisoning and certain forms of anemia. Cherry red lipstick and eating peppermint sticks can do the same.

RUSTY NAIL

J. C. writes: Is it true that there is no danger of infection from stepping on a rusty nail?

REPLY

This is not true. A rusty nail can carry just as many organisms as one that is shiny. The rust itself is not important; any puncture wound is potentially dangerous.

GOP-Dixiecrat Alliance Plots To Control Congress By '52; Realignment Would Create New Party; Citizens Committee Is "Front" Organization

Say JACK ANDERSON and FRED BLUMENTHAL

WASHINGTON.—Right-wing Republicans and Dixiecrats are secretely plotting a political alliance to capture control of Congress by 1952, then to take over the Electoral College—key to the presidency. We have documentary proof of this daring plan, which already has the secret backing of nationally known conservatives.

In brief, the plan calls for Republicans and Southern Democrats to join forces without changing party affiliations. However, they would merge their seniority and run Congress jointly. Then the next step would be to organize a similar coalition to dominate the Electoral College and name a conservative president.

The ringleader of this amazing plot is a stocky, ruddy-faced North Carolinian, named J. Harvie Williams. Though comparatively unknown, he claims to have the support of such GOP leaders as Senators Karl Mundt of South Dakota and John Bricker of Ohio, Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana and Frederick Coudert of New York; also such Southern stalwarts as Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia and Dick Russell of Georgia, Congressman Gene Sox of Georgia, and Dixiecrat Governor-Elect James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Painstaking Plan

Williams has set forth his so-called "political realignment" plan in painstaking detail in a series of "strictly confidential" memos, which are also marked: "Please do not discuss outside sympathetic circles."

"Our plan for political realignment is a simple one," he writes. "It involves nothing more than a formal alliance between Republicans and Southern Democrats in the Senate, in the House and in the Electoral College."

Of the 64 senators in the Republican-Southern bloc, Williams calculates that three Southerners and seven Republican senators would refuse to join the alliance. This would still leave a majority of 54 seats to 42. In the House, he expects to lose 21 Republicans and 13 Southerners, giving the coalition control of the House by a 240-to-195 margin.

Williams explains: "In effect, this realignment would create a new party, but without the necessity of any change of party names. This realignment is legally possible now. The rules of the Senate and the rules of the House speak of the majority and of the minority rather than of Democrats and Republicans; and members of Congress are elected under the election laws of the 48 states.

"Similarly," he continues, "presidential electors are elected under the laws of the several states. The 1948 'secession' of the Democratic parties in four Southern states indicates the method and the possibilities of extending re-alignment into the election of the President."

"Front" Organization

Williams has already formed a "front" organization to carry out his plan. He calls it the citizens political committee, though he admits frankly, its title does not disclose its purpose." Williams uses the Remington Rand Company, Room 1200, 314 Fourth Avenue, New York City as a headquarters—though he is not now on Remington Rand's payroll.

In a private letter, dated May 13, Williams names ex-Senator Albert Hawkes of New Jersey as the leading money raiser.

Senator Hawkes has agreed to handle that (money raising) for us," Williams writes. "I am not going to initiate any new prospects, and have turned over to Hawkes the names of the men he knows whom I've seen or corresponded with on the subject."

In another letter, dated May 1, Williams also writes: "Two things need to be done to put the realignment proposal in shape for presentation to a group for substantial support (about $200,000 for a one-year budget). Harold E. Talbot has agreed to arrange that group meeting. The two things are required by Southern Senate leaders. They are: (1) A rather detailed plan for the joint-nomination in 1952, and (2) a merging on paper of committee seniorities of Republicans and Southern Democrats."

Congressional Reaction

As a sample of private congressional reaction, Williams received a letter from Senator Mundt, dated May 16, and addressed "Dear Harvie."

"I am still inclined to believe that the merger at the congressional level has too many practical barriers to make it feasible at this junction and that the most realistic approach is one which would handle this matter in the Electoral College," the Senator from South Dakota suggested.

NOTE—Williams' political thesis is that the United States is now a nation of "mongrels" with most of the "alien" elements concentrated in the urban North. His basis for realignment is a geographic unification of "white, English-speaking stocks" to elect a "conservative president." For this post, Williams favors Senator Bricker or possibly Senator Byrd.

Secret Poll

Jimmy Roosevelt, now running for Governor of California, is frustrated over a secret public-opinion poll he took the other day. It revealed that 30 per cent of California's Democrats think Jimmy's opponent, Governor Warren, is a Democrat

When asked about the poll, Roosevelt grinned:

"I don't want to run a smear campaign, but I'm determined to expose Warren's affiliation with the Republican party."

Genial William "Fishbait" Miller, doorkeeper of the House, is a great favorite with children, especially those of his Sunday School class at the Fountain Memorial Baptist Church in Washington.

On the evening of the offensive's second day, Aug. 8, the whole effort was still halted by the failure of their spearhead unit, the 5th Regimental Combat Team, to move down the coastal road that is the main approach to Chinju. The stalled 5th Regimental Combat Team blocked the 1st Marine Brigade from going. Moreover the 5th Regimental Combat Team, which has been thrown into this offensive without any previous experience of combat, had already made two attacks that day without gaining much ground.

Had No Alternative

In these unpromising circumstances, the commander of the American task force, Maj. Gen. William B. Kean, had no alternative but to drive his men. When the failure of the 5th Regimental Combat Team's afternoon attack was reported to him, he grimly ordered still a third attack to begin at 9 p. m., and stringently required the 5th's commander, Col. Godwin Ordway, Jr., to reach his main objective—high ground where the Chinju road traverses a pass—at all costs.

Thus in the last moment of dusk, when forms along the roadside were mere gray shapes, the weary men entered their vehicles and began the move forward. Artillery and tanks, (which in this unfavorable countryside must be used almost wholly as mobile guns) began to soften up the enemy lodgements. While the big guns roared in the darkness, the men left their vehicles and toiled up the mountainside to dislodge the North Koreans from the crest. This time, the resistance collapsed in a rattle of firing. The 5th Regimental Combat Team had broken through, and so rolled forward.

Such was the turning point. The whole enemy resistance on Aug. 7 and 8 had in fact been carried on by isolated groups of North Korean soldiers holding commanding mountain peaks, assisted by other mobile groups carrying on harassing attacks upon the American positions, or infiltrating behind the lines to cut the vital road supply routes. When the key peaks had been taken, there was little enemy strength behind them. Moreover the infiltrators, who are miscalled guerrillas, were forced by their dependence on supply by runner to fall back hastily; and while sniper fire and attempts to form road-blocks rapidly began in the immediate rear of our new front, the section of road that had been formerly so troubled became as peaceful as a country lane.

Despite these improving prospects, there was anger and dismay at headquarters on the morning of Aug. 9, for the 5th Regimental Combat Team, having reported full success, had really halted by mistake only halfway to its goal. Yet the way was now open for the 1st Marine Brigade to go through, down its destined track among the sea cliffs. And while the Marines prepared to move, Gen. Kean hurried to the front to take personal command of the continuing drive of the 5th Regimental Combat Team.

Slight Resistance

Most of that day's gains were in fact made, against slight resistance, by the 5th and 35th Regimental Combat Teams, the latter pushing down its upper road to meet its comrade unit. Yet the memorable sight was the take-off of the Marines. It was afternoon when the 1st Marine Battalion led off with three heavy tanks lumbering in the forefront. As the first tank rounded a shoulder of the curving sea cliff and was silhouetted against the blue bay beyond, the late, deep-golden sun struck all the long, quickly marching files of men wending along the mountain track for a full mile behind.

And even more moving than this unreal beauty, was to see the Marine's 3rd Battalion get ready in its turn. Here there was no picture—a huddle of men in the lee of a hill were merely clustering around the water trucks or cleaning their weapons or sleeping in the ditch. But these same men had only just been

Reds Frequently Break '33 Agreement With U. S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—An overwhelming number of members of Congress will vote to ban the activities of communists inside the United States on the theory that the latter are agents of or inspired by the Moscow government. But, strangely enough, no group has arisen in Congress to demand that diplomatic recognition of the Soviet government be withdrawn for that reason.

Yet, on November 16, 1933, the Soviet Union made the specific agreement with the government of the United States in which a pledge was given that there would be no attempt by the Russian government to foster the continuance of communist organizations or individuals inside the United States.

The agreement—which was formally signed by Maxim M. Litninoff, minister for foreign affairs of the Soviet Union, and by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a condition for the extension of recognition— read in part as follows:

"It will be the fixed policy of the Government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics:

No Interference

"1. To respect scrupulously the indisputable right of the United States to order its own life within its own jurisdiction in its own way and to refrain from interfering in any manner in the internal affairs of the United States, its territories or possessions.

"2. To refrain, and to restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government or under its direct or indirect control, including organizations in receipt of any financial assistance from it, from any act overt or covert liable in any way whatsoever to injure the tranquility, prosperity, order, or security of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions, and, in particular, from any act tending to incite or encourage armed intervention, or any agitation or propaganda having as an aim, the violation of the territorial integrity of the United States, its terrorities or possessions, or the bringing about by force of a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions."

Two additional provisions of the same agreement stated that the Soviet government would not allow the formation on its own territory of any organization or group "which has as an aim the overthrow or the preparation for the overthrow of, or the bringing about by force of a change in, the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions."

This agreement has been repeatedly violated. The arrests recently of espionage agents who confess to be working for the Soviet government is paralleled by the arrest of communists who have been stirring up trouble in various ways inside the United States in industrial plants. Also communists have infiltrated into our governmental agencies for the purpose of serving the Soviet government.

Treat Infection At Source

The United States can treat this infection at the source—it can withdraw diplomatic recognition on the ground that the Soviet government has violated its explicit agreement of 1933.

By withdrawing recognition, the United States can at the same time serve notice on various satellite states that the time has come to draw a line between governments purporting to represent them and the peoples of those countries with whom, of course, America desires to remain friendly.

The United Nations once adopted a resolution calling on its members to withdraw recognition from Spain. That precedent can be invoked now as one of the important members—the United States—reveals that the Russian government is not willing to honor its international obligations. The question of admitting China's government also becomes academic. For, as long as communist China is under the control of the Moscow government, it is difficult to see how Great Britain or any other country which has extended recognition to the government of communist China can continue to maintain diplomatic relations.

Once the Kremlin's tie with the Western world has been severed, the way is open to appeal to the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite countries to prepare the way for new governments that can be admitted into the family of nations.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Private Responsibility

IN TIME OF war, it is not unusual for a people to become deeply concerned over details. Where is Pusan? What did Averell Harriman say to General MacArthur?

All this is interesting, but it divorces the mind from our major problem—the answer to which will decide what our world will be, no matter whether battles are won or lost.

Obviously something happened between the years 1914 and 1950 which altered the course of Western civilization and of American history and life. That alteration has not been for the better. It has brought us, to date, three general wars and an economic dislocation of great depth. Its social consequences are just beginning to appear in the changed character of our family life.

Walter Hoving merchant, put it this way:

"Why are we so confused? Is it possibly because so many of our basic beliefs were under fire during the first half of the twentieth century? Beliefs that we used to take for granted suffered from constant and vigorous attack. Take our religious beliefs for example. The initial assault on religion came from science. Science set itself up as having an omnipotence of its own. Many people instead of recognizing that science was merely discovering the laws of God were led to believe that science itself was God. They were made to feel that the spiritual basis for the universe was old-fashioned and obsolete."

This is a clinical diagnosis of a deep social illness, namely, that the vast accumulation of unrelated data has had the effect of separating us from the essential characteristic of Western civilization, which is, private, personal, individual responsibility.

But what it comes to is that not a majority, or a mass or a mob, or a committee, nor even a minority, can assum responsibility for the conduct of the individual in the presence of God.

This concept of personal responsibility had the broadest historical consequences, for it evoked the doctrine of personal liberty and of political and economic freedom. On the political side, it destroyed the concept of despotism and established the principle that a good government is one in which the choice is made, in an orderly fashion, by the people themselves. On the economic side, it produced capitalism.

By whatever name, private enterprise, free enterprise, profit and loss system, capitalism is the economic consequence of a philosophic system of personal rather than mass responsibility. It is one man standing alone to do what he can and must, assuming all the liabilities, risking his future, accepting the benefits, whatever they may be.

This system, whatever its advantages or defects, cannot exist at all if government or any other communal agency rejects the responsibility of the individual for his choices, his decisions and his conduct. For instance, such a system cannot exist in a prison or an asylum or even when, in despair or for power, men are forced to go to war.

Under such conditions, a despotism appears—either the despotism of the person, or of an oligarchy or a mob. The individual is not only repressed; he is actually suppressed as a nuisance. Whoever controls force and power, controls man. The individual not only may not do according to his choice; he may not think without consent.

Thus, Zhdanov was able to dictate the character of newly-written music; and now Stalin is messing about with the propriety of words. Dictators operate not only in the political and economy realm; they would fashion all men to their tastes and destroy those who displease them.

Walter Hoving makes this interesting point:

"One of the most tragic consequences of all this is that we have even lost our deep seated belief in freedom itself. Although we still use the word, its connotation has changed. We have substituted for freedom a sort of parasitical security. For example, many people number among the so-called four freedoms two new ones . . . they are the freedom from want and the freedom from fear. These, of course, are not freedoms at all, but securities."

For every benefit, there must be a compensatory payment or even sacrifice. Therefore, to obtain extraordinary securities, freedoms have to be curtailed or sacrificed entirely. Guaranteed existence, which is called security, can only mean a lessening or the elimination of personal responsibility. This is the essential danger of our era.

Keyser Moose Robbed Of $800

Investigation of the theft of $800 in cash from the safe of the Keyser Moose Lodge early Monday morning was continued today by the Keyser City Police and West Virginia State Trooper W. F. Bowey with no new developments being reported.

William F. Miller, governor of Keyser Moose Lodge, told police the cash was in a safe in an upstairs office of the Moose Home and that books containing records of the lodge in a downstairs safe were not disturbed.

C. L. Johnson, lodge steward, discovered the theft about 8:30 a. m. Monday. The lodge rooms had been closed Sunday at midnight.

No windows or doors were forced to gain admittance to the room. The safe was entered by working the combination.

William F. Miller, governor of Keyser Moose Lodge, and C. A. C. Carley, Mooseheart, Ill., auditor of the Moose Supreme Lodge, estimated the $800 loss. Carley is in Keyser to audit the books of the Keyser Lodge.

Miller pointed out that it is a regular procedure for the Supreme Moose auditor to inspect local lodge books when a secretary or any other person responsible for cash and records dies. A. A. Hood, who was secretary of the Keyser lodge, recently died.

Andrews-Knieriem Wedding Will Take Place Tonight

Bride's Parents Plan Reception

Miss Delores Knieriem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Knieriem, 210 Main Street, Ridgeley, will become the bride of William F. Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, 125 New Hampshire Avenue, this city, tonight in the rectory of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The ceremony will be performed at 7:30 by Rev. Robert Hopkins, assistant pastor.

Mrs. Marian Doddrill will be the bride's only attendant and Thomas O'Toole will be best man.

Miss Knieriem will wear a ballerina length gown of white organdy made with a tight bodice, high neck and long, pointed sleeves. A tiny helmet of the same material holds her shoulder length veil. Her bouquet will be of white roses and baby's breath.

Her attendant will wear a blue organdy dress identical to that of the bride except that it is sleeveless. Her matching headdress also is the same as the bride's. She will carry a yellow rosebud nosegay.

The mother of the bride has chosen a pale pink summer suit with matching hat and black patent leather accessories.

Mrs. Andrews, mother of the bridegroom, will wear a light blue dress with white accessories. Both mothers will have yellow rosebud corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be held on the lawn of the home of the bride's parents. A centerpiece of pastel-colored asters and wedding bells will be on the bride's table. Bouquets of asters also will be used in the house.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

TODAY'S column is especially for all of you who think that beauty and charm belong to the young and willowy. It features a leading Powers model who is in constant demand as a matron model, yet one who is over fifty in age and a forty in size!

How does she do it? Well, here it is—first hand, in the words of Beatrice Foster, herself:

All You Need Know

"Any woman who wants to make her personal dream of mature attractiveness come true every day can do it, if she learns how to make an attribute out of what many another woman considers a handicap.

"The starting place lies in knowing your faults— not so that you can apologize to yourself or anyone else for them, but so that you can face them squarely to overcome them quickly.

"Learn what you must avoid, especially in clothes. Shiny fabrics such as satin, metallic brocades and sequins will add inches to anybody over a size twenty. Round lines in any garment simply repeat and accentuate the roundness of the figure. Intense colors throw their spotlight on the entire girth. Extraneous ornaments of any kind at the bust, hip or waist only increase back-to-front width.

"Find a basic style that suits you and then stick to it. This doesn't mean that you have to let fashion pass you by and look as out-of-date as last year's hat. It just means following certain principles that are incorporated in wisely-designed women's clothes no matter what the current mode. The most important of these are long-vertical and short-diagonal lines, three-quarter sleeves, the wonderful, new, fitted belts and V necks.

"More than any other, the mature figure needs good balance in any design. For example, if the bust is heavy and the hips close to normal, find the dress that has a moderately draped skirt. Such manipulation of fabric equalizes the two measurements and gives the figure fine proportion.

Highlighting Distinction

"Chose all your accessories with discretion. Stay away from chunky jewelry, no matter how fashionable it is. Keep to the fine, distinctive pieces. Avoid cuteness in shoes and handbags. Classic designs with good workmanship and fabric are for the woman of ripe distinction.

"See to it that our make-up is neither drab nor harsh. Choose a foundation that matches your skin and a lipstick that is free of purply tones. Coral, pink or scarlet shades soften lines and give your delicate coloring a chance to emerge.

"And don't try to look sixteen —it's like wearing your age on your sleeve. Do try to look and be as young as you are. That's the secret of leaving behind you no age impression whatsoever!"

P. S. from J. B. P.

Miss Rita McIntyre Named Gas Co. Home Economist

A native of Pittsburgh, Miss Rita McIntyre has been named home economist for the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, according to C. C. Robbins, district manager.

Miss McIntyre will conduct the firm's home service program in Frostburg, Lonaconing, Keyser and Piedmont from Cumberland.

Miss McIntyre attended Divine Providence Academy, Allison Park, Pa., and Cathedral High School in Pittsburgh. She received her bachelor of science degree in home economics from Mount Mercy College, Pittsburgh. She is a member of the American Home Economics Association.

For the past year she has been home economist at the Washington, Pa., office of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, an associated gas company in the Pittsburgh group of gas companies in the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Miss McIntyre is replacing Miss Jane Marshall, who is now home economist for the Binghamton Gas Works, Binghamton, N. Y.

Local Man Promoted

Richard S. Davis, 24 Potomac Street, who is serving in Korea with the 24th Division, has been promoted to master sergeant, according to a letter received recently by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham Davis.

M-Sgt. Davis, a former Celanese employe and veteran of World War 11, lift Japan for Korea on June 30. He has been overseas since last October, serving with an infantry outfit.

Legion Post To Deliver Books

Over 1,500 books and magazines collected by Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va., will be taken to the Newton D. Baker VA Center, Martinsburg, W. Va., Sunday.

William Lindsay, chairman of the post's Americanism committee, which has been in charge of collecting the reading material, said a committee will leave here Sunday at 9:30 a. m. for the Veterans hospital.

He said the committee will be glad to see that any veterans of the Tri-State area now in the hospital are supplied and suggested that names be submitted prior to Sunday.

Fire Insurance Classification Here Is Raised

Cumberland has had its fire insurance classification raised during the past year according to the International City Managers Association report to the Maryland League of Municipalities headed by Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Cumberland is one of 27 cities in the United States with populations of 10,000 or over to have this raise in classification.

The league stated that it is of greatest importance to municipalities to be placed in a higher classification since this classification determines in a large part the fire insurance rates on property within the corporate limits.

One local fire insurance authority stated today that there has been no recent blanket rate reduction in Cumberland. But he added that the change in the classification may result in a widespread basic rate alteration when it is acted upon by the State Insurance Department.

The league explained that the classification of the city is determined by the number of points of deficiency assessed because local conditions do not meet the standards prescribed by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Points of deficiency are charged for each defect and the city with the highest number of deficiency points has the lowest rating.

Major items considered are water supply, size and quality of the fire department, fire alarm system, police department, building regulations and their enforcement, structural conditions, and climatic conditions.

Fire Insurance Classification Here Is Raised

Cumberland has had its fire insurance classification raised during the past year according to the International City Managers Association report to the Maryland League of Municipalities headed by Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Cumberland is one of 27 cities in the United States with populations of 10,000 or over to have this raise in classification.

The league stated that it is of greatest importance to municipalities to be placed in a higher classification since this classification determines in a large part the fire insurance rates on property within the corporate limits.

One local fire insurance authority stated today that there has been no recent blanket rate reduction in Cumberland. But he added that the change in the classification may result in a widespread basic rate alteration when it is acted upon by the State Insurance Department.

The league explained that the classification of the city is determined by the number of points of deficiency assessed because local conditions do not meet the standards prescribed by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Points of deficiency are charged for each defect and the city with the highest number of deficiency points has the lowest rating.

Major items considered are water supply, size and quality of the fire department, fire alarm system, police department, building regulations and their enforcement, structural conditions, and climatic conditions.

Manager "Sparky" Chisholm's rampaging Tigers blasted out a 13-1 win over the Braves to widen their first-place margin in the Dan division of the Little League yesterday at Fort Hill while the second-place Indians were losing to the Dodgers, 8-4, at Stitcher Field.

In the game played under the arcs at Penn Avenue the second-place Phillies lost ground in the Dapper division by dropping a 15-6 decision to the last-place Yankees.

Ken Johnson, Jerry Landis and Bob Lewis pounded out homers for the Tigers as they hopped off to a 10-run first inning and were never in trouble. McGann held the losers to three hits and struck out seven.

The only solid blow off McGann's delivery was a homerun by Reed which was converted into a single when the batter was called out for failure to touch second base while running out his wallop.

The Dodgers came up with an eight-run second inning for all their tallies and the triumph over Norm Gerderman's Indians. All seven of the winners' base knocks came in the scoring frame with Murray getting a double and single, Ronnie Bruce two bingles, Billy Buzzard a triple and Yaider a homerun with one man abroad.

Yankelevitz had a double and single for the losers, Murray, the winning hurler, struck out 12.

In the night contest the Yankees spotted the Phillies four runs in the top of the first then retaliated in the home half, scored in every inning and wound up the barrage with a seven-run blast in the fifth.

Three Phillies hurlers held the Yankees to five hits, but 15 bases on balls, two hit batsmen and two errors proved their undoing.

C. Lewis smashed out two circuit clouts for the winners while George Crass had three for three for the losers. Lewis struck out 13 Phillies batsmen. The scores:

Jackie Robinson Expects To Be Traded By Dodgers Next Year

Thinks Rickey Will Make Some Changes

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Jackie Robinson has a hunch he is playing his last season as a Brooklyn Dodger.

Jackie Robinson

The star second baseman's hunch, however, is not shared by his boss, Club President Branch Rickey.

"It wouldn't surprise me if I were traded at the end of the year," the National League's most valuable player of 1949 said today.

"I haven't given a thought to trading Robinson or anybody else on the ball club," says Rickey.

Robinson made known his hunch today amidst rumors of mounting tension on the Dodger team—a club that won the pennant last season, was favored to repeat but now finds itself a half dozen games off the pace.

Rickey already has publicly criticized the "complacency" of the team.

Singularly, Rickey appeared not the slightest bit disturbed over Robinson's remarks.

"I sympathize with Robinson," Rickey said when informed of Jackie's statements. "The boy probably is concerned over what has happened in recent games.

Robinson is in a batting slump which has cost him the national league lead.

Cats To Prepare For Grid Season

First Call Sent Out For Aug. 27 Session

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 16—The Potomac State Catamounts will assemble in Keyser Aug. 27 to start preparations for their ambitious nine game football schedule. The call has already gone out for candidates.

Twenty-four men from last year's squad are expected to report for practice, fifteen of which are lettermen. This is quite different from last year when only seven holdovers reported for practice. If some of the new men live up to advance notices, the Catamounts should have plenty of competition for the starting positions.

Fifteen men were lost from the squad by graduation and a few others have transferred to other schools. Pete Ladygo at center and Paul Nestor end and tackle will be greatly missed from the line along with Bill Ballard regular quarterback and Jack Booth, star halfback.

A very fine nine game schedule has been arranged, six of which are played at home. Four conference games are to be played, Glenville and Shepherd will be played at home and Concord and Salem away. Three Junior Colleges will be met with Montgomery and Baltimore City returning to Keyser and Newport Tech away. Four new teams appear on the schedule, Glenville, George Washington Jr. Varsity, and Gallaudet coming to Keyser, and Salem away.

The Catamounts traditional rivals, The Shepherd Rams, will be the Homecoming opponents on September 30.

Manager "Sparky" Chisholm's rampaging Tigers blasted out a 13-1 win over the Braves to widen their first-place margin in the Dan division of the Little League yesterday at Fort Hill while the second-place Indians were losing to the Dodgers, 8-4, at Stitcher Field.

In the game played under the arcs at Penn Avenue the second-place Phillies lost ground in the Dapper division by dropping a 15-6 decision to the last-place Yankees.

Ken Johnson, Jerry Landis and Bob Lewis pounded out homers for the Tigers as they hopped off to a 10-run first inning and were never in trouble. McGann held the losers to three hits and struck out seven.

The only solid blow off McGann's delivery was a homerun by Reed which was converted into a single when the batter was called out for failure to touch second base while running out his wallop.

The Dodgers came up with an eight-run second inning for all their tallies and the triumph over Norm Gerderman's Indians. All seven of the winners' base knocks came in the scoring frame with Murray getting a double and single, Ronnie Bruce two bingles, Billy Buzzard a triple and Yaider a homerun with one man abroad.

Yankelevitz had a double and single for the losers, Murray, the winning hurler, struck out 12.

In the night contest the Yankees spotted the Phillies four runs in the top of the first then retaliated in the home half, scored in every inning and wound up the barrage with a seven-run blast in the fifth.

Three Phillies hurlers held the Yankees to five hits, but 15 bases on balls, two hit batsmen and two errors proved their undoing.

C. Lewis smashed out two circuit clouts for the winners while George Crass had three for three for the losers. Lewis struck out 13 Phillies batsmen. The scores:

Second Bob Lemon Goes To Indians

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16 (AP) — Jim (Bob) Lemon, who has hit 39 home runs and driven in 119 runs this season for Oklahoma City in the Texas League, was purchased tonight by the Cleveland Indians.

General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Tribe said the 22-year-old outfielder will be used in pinch-hitting roles for the remainder of the season.

Lemon, who is batting .286 for the Cleveland farm club, is not related to Bob Lemon, ace Tribe hurler. He is leading the Texas League in homers and runs batted in by a considerable margin.

Cats To Prepare For Grid Season

First Call Sent Out For Aug. 27 Session

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 16—The Potomac State Catamounts will assemble in Keyser Aug. 27 to start preparations for their ambitious nine game football schedule. The call has already gone out for candidates.

Twenty-four men from last year's squad are expected to report for practice, fifteen of which are lettermen. This is quite different from last year when only seven holdovers reported for practice. If some of the new men live up to advance notices, the Catamounts should have plenty of competition for the starting positions.

Fifteen men were lost from the squad by graduation and a few others have transferred to other schools. Pete Ladygo at center and Paul Nestor end and tackle will be greatly missed from the line along with Bill Ballard regular quarterback and Jack Booth, star halfback.

A very fine nine game schedule has been arranged, six of which are played at home. Four conference games are to be played, Glenville and Shepherd will be played at home and Concord and Salem away. Three Junior Colleges will be met with Montgomery and Baltimore City returning to Keyser and Newport Tech away. Four new teams appear on the schedule, Glenville, George Washington Jr. Varsity, and Gallaudet coming to Keyser, and Salem away.

The Catamounts traditional rivals, The Shepherd Rams, will be the Homecoming opponents on September 30.

Noor Will Not Run At Saratoga Track

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP) — Noor, the Irish-bred challenger for 1950 championship honors in the handicap ranks, will not start at the Saratoga meeting, his trainer said today.

The five-year-old son of Nasrullah-Queen of Baghdad arrived last week from California, where he won five of seven races and $227,440.

Burley Parke, who trains the horse for Mrs. Charles S. Howard, reported Noor had a coughing spell before shipping east and his training was interrupted.

Joe May Return To Action Friday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankee centerfielder, said he hopes to return to the lineup Friday against the Athletics in Philadelphia.

"I still feel kind of weak," he said, "but the rest of the past few days has done me a lot of good."

DiMaggio was benched last week by Manager Casey Stengel for the first time in his career. Stengel said he was concerned because Joe was underweight.

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 16 (AP) — The Washington Senators are calling up a third Cuban pitcher. He is Julio Moreno, 26, righthander, and one of the mainstays of the Havana Cubans of the Florida International League.

Jackie Robinson Expects To Be Traded By Dodgers Next Year

Thinks Rickey Will Make Some Changes

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Jackie Robinson has a hunch he is playing his last season as a Brooklyn Dodger.

Jackie Robinson

The star second baseman's hunch, however, is not shared by his boss, Club President Branch Rickey.

"It wouldn't surprise me if I were traded at the end of the year," the National League's most valuable player of 1949 said today.

"I haven't given a thought to trading Robinson or anybody else on the ball club," says Rickey.

Robinson made known his hunch today amidst rumors of mounting tension on the Dodger team—a club that won the pennant last season, was favored to repeat but now finds itself a half dozen games off the pace.

Rickey already has publicly criticized the "complacency" of the team.

Singularly, Rickey appeared not the slightest bit disturbed over Robinson's remarks.

"I sympathize with Robinson," Rickey said when informed of Jackie's statements. "The boy probably is concerned over what has happened in recent games.

Robinson is in a batting slump which has cost him the national league lead.

Defends Bike Title

DORIS TRAVANI of Detroit, Mich., will defend her national girl bicycle rider championship in the Amateur Bicycle League of America's annual tournament, Aug. 19-20, at New Brunswick, N. J. Doris won the title in 1947, 1948 and 1949. (International)

In 1950, for the fourth year in a row, the Penn State football team will play four games at home, five on the road.

DROPO GOES DOWN — Walt Dropo, Boston Red Sox slugger, holds on to the left side of his head as he falls to the ground at the plate in the fifth inning of the Boston-Philadelphia first game at Fenway Park, Boston, Tuesday night, after being hit by a pitched ball by A's pitcher Hank Wyse. Starting to his aid are Joe Tipton, Athletics' catcher, Umpire Joe Paparella and Bobby Doerr (1) of the Red Sox. Dropo was conscious when removed from the field and taken to a hospital where X-rays showed no fracture.

Atalanta Repeats On Muddy Track At Saratoga Meet

Completes Double For Jockey Woodhouse

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—The silks of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable again were carried to victory as Atalanta splashed her way to a six-length triumph in the 59th Spinaway Stakes today. In so doing, the daughter of Count Fleet confirmed her recent score in the Schuylerville with authority.

This time the daughter of Count Fleet won with greater east in the deep slop, displaying a keen fondness for such going. Completing a riding double for Jockey Hedley J. Woodhouse, she paid $9.10, and sloshed over the six furlongs in 1:13 Her share of the purse was $14,950, increasing her 1950 earnings to $26,-500.

Second in the old stakes event for juvenile fillies was F. Eugene Dixon Jr.'s Les Abeilles, coupled with George D. Widener's Amphora. A length farther away in third place was Llangollen Farm's Wisteria, paired with Witch Song. Greentree Stable's Ruddy was a wilting fourth, while Foxcatcher Farm's Rose Fern, a slight favorite, sprawled in the slop and finished fifth in the field of 11 junior misses. Rose Fern and Ruddy recently finished second and third, respectively, to Atalanta in the Schuylerville.

Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—The silks of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable again were carried to victory as Atalanta splashed her way to a six-length triumph in the 59th Spinaway Stakes today. In so doing, the daughter of Count Fleet confirmed her recent score in the Schuylerville with authority.

This time the daughter of Count Fleet won with greater east in the deep slop, displaying a keen fondness for such going. Completing a riding double for Jockey Hedley J. Woodhouse, she paid $9.10, and sloshed over the six furlongs in 1:13 Her share of the purse was $14,950, increasing her 1950 earnings to $26,500.

Second in the old stakes event for juvenile fillies was F. Eugene Dixon Jr.'s Les Abeilles, coupled with George D. Widener's Amphora. A length farther away in third place was Llangollen Farm's Wisteria, paired with Witch Song. Greentree Stable's Ruddy was a wilting fourth, while Foxcatcher Farm's Rose Fern, a slight favorite, sprawled in the slop and finished fifth in the field of 11 junior misses. Rose Fern and Ruddy recently finished second and third, respectively, to Atalanta in the Schuylerville.

SUPER-SALESMAN COPS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP) — Super-Salesman, owned by Henry Lewis 3rd, registered a front-running triumph in the featured Brigantine Purse at Atlantic City today.

The Challedon gelding was superbly rated by Ronnie Nash to best seven other 3-year-olds by a length and one-half.

At the end of the mile and a sixteenth journey Mrs. A. J. Cochran's Dateline was second, a length and one-half clear of Larry S. MacPhail's Invariant.

Two members of the Chicago Cubs—Tom Burns and Ed Williamson—scored three runs apiece in a game in 1883.

College Science Building Work To Start Soon

Plans Completed, Byrnes Is Informed

FROSTBURG — Michael J. Byrnes, chairman of the Frostburg Committee for the Advancement of Frostburg State Teachers College, stated yesterday that he had been informed in a letter from Governor W. Byrnes said he wrote the governor late in July, stating that the people of Western Maryland counties were anxious to know what progress was being made, as the college was operating under a great handicap without the proposed new buildings.

Governor Lane stated in his letter that he was informed by John J. Funk, chief engineer of Maryland, that work on the new science building was scheduled to start at an early date.

Borden Shaft, Carlos Facing Water Shortage

150 Consumers Asked To Avoid Waste

FROSTBURG—Residents of Borden Shaft and Carlos are facing a water shortage so serious, according to an official of the Shaft Water Company, that an appeal has been made to the 160 consumers on the company's line to use water only for the most essential purposes.

Using water for sprinkling lawns, washing cars or other purposes not absolutely necessary, a company spokesman said, will only add to the seriousness of the situation.

He added that in case of a fire in the Shaft-Midlothian area the only water available would be the small supply in the water mains.

The official explained that the flow of water in the creek which supplies the Carlos reservoir is almost stopped and unless there is a heavy rainfall, the situation will gradually become more serious.

Borden Shaft, Carlos Facing Water Shortage

150 Consumers Asked To Avoid Waste

FROSTBURG—Residents of Borden Shaft and Carlos are facing a water shortage so serious, according to an official of the Shaft Water Company, that an appeal has been made to the 160 consumers on the company's line to use water only for the most essential purposes.

Using water for sprinkling lawns, washing cars or other purposes not absolutely necessary, a company spokesman said, will only add to the seriousness of the situation.

He added that in case of a fire in the Shaft-Midlothian area the only water available would be the small supply in the water mains.

The official explained that the flow of water in the creek which supplies the Carlos reservoir is almost stopped and unless there is a heavy rainfall, the situation will gradually become more serious.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—(INS)—A loud bravo for U-I for signing the fine negro actor, Clarence Muse. Muse has the top character role in "Apache Drums" with Steve McNally and Colleen Gray.

In the past year he has covered 30 American cities and raised $2,000,000 solely from negro audiences, for the March of Dimes drive. This figure on Muse's accomplishment, has just been released by the Infantile Paralysis Association.

Joan Crawford

Hope I never hear of Rory Calhoun parting company with his agent, Henry Willson. After nursing Rory through years of idleness when David Selznick had no pictures for him, Willson has the boy set on a seven year contract with 20th Century-Fox.

Of course Rory's performance in "I'd Climb The Highesht Mountain" with Susan Hayward for 20th, is the big factor in getting the long term deal at a time when studios are not passing out too many.

Calhoun reports to 20th when he finishes "Rogue River" for Eagle Lion.

Washington Whirl

(If you happen to see this bright-eyed bachelor-about-town before I do, tell him I've been working on his case . . . I've turned the whole problem over to my list of prowling females (and in Washington it's a large one). These women will soon be fighting to provide for him - - - yachts, his favorite dish of southern sweet-potato pie, ties from Charvet, mink lap-robes, or whatever else might take his fancy . . . I LOVE BOATS

By JOHN WHITE

DEAR Austine, why don't people invite me on their boats any more? I love boats.

Once I was in a rowboat crossing a mountain stream. I fell out and was washed over a waterfall. They looked for me a long time in the whirlpool at the bottom; they didn't know I had caught in a little hole in the rock just under the lip of the fall, and, emotionally tired, gone to sleep.

JOHN WHITE

I can not forget the language my mother used when I woke up, stuck my head through the waterfall and asked what they were doing down there.

Once I borrowed Capt. Pratt's boat to take Sue Ayer (whose eyes were the color of South American butterflies) on a moonlight sail.

Early the next morning Capt. Pratt had a convulsion. His boat had been found well out to sea, tangled in Manuel's lobster pots. I had forgotten to make it fast. (Is that the nautical term for tieing a boat to the bottom?)

On a Norwegian freight boat they flattered me into thinking I was brave. Then they asked me to go down a little ladder and chase away the ghost that haunted the ship. I wrote out my will and climbed down the ladder and into a bucket of warm tar.

In Long Island sound, I went sailing with Jan Hasbrouck in his yawl (or was it a ketch, or a 30-square meter, or a wherry?) and while I was steering the rudder fell off.

We drifted around until dark and then sent up flares. The Coast Guard pulled us in. "It wasn't your fault," Jan said. But I heard what he whispered to the C. G. people.

• — • — •

On a Merchants and Miners vessel en route from Baltimore to New York I was courting a young lady, and a pitcher of water turned over and drenched my pants. They were white linen, the water made them transparent, my skivvy shorts were blue-striped. I was so bitterly embarrassed I never saw that girl again.

Her name was Anna North. I was then 14. I don't know why blue-stripedskivves should be so embarrassing. But I have not forgotten.

Once Tom Williams asked me to be his crew on a Cohasset race. I was to "man the line" of the main boom. As we came around a buoy he yelled "Take it in, take it in!"

"Take what in?" I asked, wondering if my shirt tail was out. "Take in your line!" he shouted, but by that time our boom had swept across the next boat and hit its captain on the back of the head.

"Foul, foul you'll be disqualified!" he screamed even before he fell on his face.

We were.

In North Haven, Sandy Choate lent me his motor boat and I went quite a way and then it stalled and started drifting out to sea. Fortunately a ferry hit me—not hard enough to sink me—and towed me in with a boat hook.

• — • — •

In Washington here, George and Jane Wheeler used to take me on their boat until he went fishing one day and I refused to help put bloodworms on the hooks. Repulsive things.

The bloodworms, I mean.

Once I was even on a military transport. I was Officer of the Day. I got sick.

To leeward, of course.

• — • — •

Oh the sea, the beautiful sea. Full of mystery and adventure. Why doesn't anybody ask me to go on a boat?

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—(INS)—A loud bravo for U-I for signing the fine negro actor, Clarence Muse. Muse has the top character role in "Apache Drums" with Steve McNally and Colleen Gray.

In the past year he has covered 30 American cities and raised $2,000,000 solely from negro audiences, for the March of Dimes drive. This figure on Muse's accomplishment, has just been released by the Infantile Paralysis Association.

Joan Crawford

Hope I never hear of Rory Calhoun parting company with his agent, Henry Willson. After nursing Rory through years of idleness when David Selznick had no pictures for him, Willson has the boy set on a seven year contract with 20th Century-Fox.

Of course Rory's performance in "I'd Climb The Highesht Mountain" with Susan Hayward for 20th, is the big factor in getting the long term deal at a time when studios are not passing out too many.

Calhoun reports to 20th when he finishes "Rogue River" for Eagle Lion.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Wendy Barri And The Aussies Win Easy

BILL STERN, the broadcaster of all sports and master of none, tackled the Davis Cup interzone finals with commendable courage though, of course, no competence. Now that he has scaled this particular Matterhorn, has, as it were, put tennis in the record, he can go on to other matters. I suggest he try broadcasting a bullfight, preferably in Spain. He couldn't do any worse at it. If Stern knows anything at all about tennis, he concealed it with immense skill. It seems inconceivable that anyone could announce a whole match without once encountering the words, volley, half volley, forcing shot, ground strokes or any of the other numerous tennis expressions. In the doubles on Saturday, he used the phrase passing shot just once to my knowledge. (It was a cross court passing shot at that).

John Crosby

* * *

The Australian doubles team, conceivably the best in the world, are very crafty strategists but their great skill at maneuvering the Swedish team out of position was entirely lost on Stern. Or perhaps he was looking at some other tennis match. About all Stern seems to know about tennis is how to keep score and occasionally he gets confused about that.

It would be a national calamity at least among tennis enthusiasts if Stern were permitted to broadcast the Davis Cup matches between the United States and Australia or the national singles at Forest Hills. In the dear old dead days of radio, it was bad enough to have the untutored announcing sports. At least, their ignorance was kept out of sight. With television they stand naked in the market place.

Stern stems from the old days of sports announcing when a good voice and excessive volubility were all that was required of a sports announcer: "Here we are at the big game, folks. And what a day this is! What a day! There goes Magoogle running around end. Oh, dear; He got tackled. A great pity! He's a fine boy. What a day! What a day!"

Since then the home audience has become a very hep crowd but the sports announcers haven't kept pace. NBC wouldn't dream of getting their war coverage from a reporter who knew nothing about Korea or armies or the world situation. Why do it to a tennis match? If someone would just get Ted Husing away from his disk jockey profession . . . There was a man who knew tennis.

* * *

The ad lib shows which are springing up like crocuses all over television have produced a specially virulent form of intermural warfare, a sort of "Camera! Camera! Who's got the camera?" game. The other night I watched two past masters, Wendy Barrie and John Reed King, vying expertly.

"Tell us all about yourself," murmured Miss Barrie. She was admiring her scarf at the time, running it through her fingers, coiling it around her wrists, inspecting the fabric. In other words, the old handkerchief trick in its most primitive form.

A steely glint entered Mr. King's eye. He picked up the watch Miss Barrie had just given him for appearing on the program, admired it extravagantly, wound it, put it on his wrist, adjusted it, and then fell to admiring it some some.

Miss Barrie's lips tightened and she went to work in earnest. She began adusting her dress, a little pull here, a little smoothing there, especially around the area so inaccurately known as the neckline. (The whistle should have blown right there. The international rules on Scene Snitching expressly forbid any female from fiddling with her dress, fourteen or less inches from the clavicle. Miss Barrie should have been put in the penalty box for at least two minutes. Badly refered match.)

Outgunned by the dress-pulling, Mr. King shifted his strategy. He picked up a piece of paper from the floor, held it at arm's length partially obscuring Miss Barrie, dress and all. Then he began laboriously folding it, lengthwise, crosswise. Miss Barrie abandoned the dress and from somewhere produced a collection of gaily colored ribbons. She waved them gaily at the cameras, wound them around her wrists and ended by trying to weave them into her hair. As the program ended, Mr. King was trying to take the ribbons away from her.

According to my scorecard, it was Wendy's match, 5 to 2. Mr. King, I should say, is out of his class. He needs more experience in the minor leagues on, say, "Leave It To The Girls" before taking on any such formidable opponent. And, for heaven's sakes man, stay away from Faye Emerson! You'd be flat on your back in five minutes.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Distributed By INS)

Since this trouble started in Korea there's a lot of fellow travelers taking out their third citizenship papers. I still insist some of them should be given the blindfolded atom bomb test.

• — • — •

The traitors beat the hemp rostrum because their acts were committed during peace time. That's like removing a rail from the main line on the premise there will be no train along until tomorrow.

• — • — •

My line of logic may be a bit on the diagonal. But it is not so cockeyed that I cry in my own ears. That constitution of ours is getting the unused look of a rich man's library.

• — • — •

I was in doubt about the seriousness of the outbreak in Asia but the suspense is over. My man in Washington informs me the thump in Korea is the other shoe.

Matter Of Fact

relieved on two mountain peaks above by fresh companies of the 24th Regimental Combat Team. For 48 hours, these Marines had been under continuous heavy fire from the enemy who tried here to break through our flanks. In the positions on the naked, rocky crests, there had been no sleep for two days. Many casualties had been carried down the steep slopes by the South Korean bearers. Water and even ammunition had been precious things, to be carefully doled out. Yet these men were now preparing for a ten-miles march in darkness without hesitation and with little more complaint than the remark of a young sergeant, "They say war is hell, and I guess they're right."

So ended Aug. 9. Aug. 10 also had its incidents — for the Marines, the collapse of a bridge under a tank, the foot-soldiers going forward alone in the night, while engineers and South Korean workmen improvised a passage for the guns and transport, and a sharp fight in the afternoon in the little fishing village of Kosong — and for the 5th Regimental Combat Team, a heavy dawn attack by infiltrators, a hard, ugly fight for the peaks above the pass where they had stopped, and then a hold patrol forward to establish contact with the 35th Regimental Combat Team on its upper road and thus to make a solid front at last. With much toil, with heavy American loss both in killed and wounded, the 6th North Korean Division had now been decimated and destroyed as a fighting organization. On Aug. 11, the offensive's final objective, the high ground above Chinju, was successfully attained. The battle was over except for the weary task of mopping-up the rear. It now only remained to be seen whether the general situation would permit these hard-won positions to be permanently held.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Wendy Barri And The Aussies Win Easy

BILL STERN, the broadcaster of all sports and master of none, tackled the Davis Cup interzone finals with commendable courage though, of course, no competence. Now that he has scaled this particular Matterhorn, has, as it were, put tennis in the record, he can go on to other matters. I suggest he try broadcasting a bullfight, preferably in Spain.

John Crosby

He couldn't do any worse at it. If Stern knows anything at all about tennis, he concealed it with immense skill. It seems inconceivable that anyone could announce a whole match without once encountering the words, volley, half volley, forcing shot, ground strokes or any of the other numerous tennis expressions. In the doubles on Saturday, he used the phrase passing shot just once to my knowledge. (It was a cross court passing shot at that).

* * *

The Australian doubles team, conceivably the best in the world, are very crafty strategists but their great skill at maneuvering the Swedish team out of position was entirely lost on Stern. Or perhaps he was looking at some other tennis match. About all Stern seems to know about tennis is how to keep score and occasionally he gets confused about that.

It would be a national calamity at least among tennis enthusiasts if Stern were permitted to broadcast the Davis Cup matches between the United States and Australia or the national singles at Forest Hills. In the dear old dead days of radio, it was bad enough to have the untutored announcing of sports. At least, their ignorance was kept out of sight. With television they stand naked in the market place.

Stern stems from the old days of sports announcing when a good voice and excessive volubility were all that was required of a sports announcer: "Here we are at the big game, folks. And what a day this is! What a day! There goes Magoogle running around end. Oh, dear; He got tackled. A great pity! He's a fine boy. What a day! What a day!"

Since then the home audience has become a very hep crowd but the sports announcers haven't kept pace. NBC wouldn't dream of getting their war coverage from a reporter who knew nothing about Korea or armies or the world situation. Why do it to a tennis match? If someone would just get Ted Husing away from his disk jockey profession . . . There was a man who knew tennis.

* * *

The ad lib shows which are springing up like crocuses all over television have produced a specially virulent form of intermural warfare, a sort of "Camera! Camera! Who's got the camera?" game. The other night I watched two past masters, Wendy Barrie and John Reed King, vying expertly.

"Tell us all about yourself," murmured Miss Barrie. She was admiring her scarf at the time, running it through her fingers, coiling it around her wrists, inspecting the fabric. In other words, the old handkerchief trick in its most primitive form.

A steely glint entered Mr. King's eye. He picked up the watch Miss Barrie had just given him for appearing on the program, admired it extravagantly, wound it, put it on his wrist, adjusted it, and then fell to admiring it some some.

Miss Barrie's lips tightened and she went to work in earnest. She began adusting her dress, a little pull here, a little smoothing there, especially around the area so inaccurately known as the neckline. (The whistle should have blown right there. The international rules on Scene Snitching expressly forbid any female from fiddling with her dress, fourteen or less inches from the clavicle. Miss Barrie should have been put in the penalty box for at least two minutes. Badly refered match.)

Outgunned by the dress-pulling, Mr. King shifted his strategy. He picked up a piece of paper from the floor, held it at arm's length partially obscuring Miss Barrie, dress and all. Then he began laboriously folding it, lengthwise, crosswise. Miss Barrie abandoned the dress and from somewhere produced a collection of gaily colored ribbons. She waved them gaily at the cameras, wound them around her wrists and ended by trying to weave them into her hair. As the program ended, Mr. King was trying to take the ribbons away from her.

According to my scorecard, it was Wendy's match, 5 to 2. Mr. King, I should say, is out of his class. He needs more experience in the minor leagues on, say, "Leave It To The Girls" before taking on any such formidable opponent. And, for heaven's sakes man, stay away from Faye Emerson! You'd be flat on your back in five minutes.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, W. F. Alexander, who died 9 years ago, August 17, 1941.
At home in the beautiful hills of God.
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done,
With joy we will meet you there.
Sadly missed by his wife and family:
Mrs. W. F. Alexander; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Alexander; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alexander; Granddaughters Ruth Marlee and Dieatra Ann Alexander.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation and give our sincere thanks to all of our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and father, J. A. Wiant. We also wish to thank Rev. J. F. Zimmerman and Rev. Gordon Hall, the pallbearers, and those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their automobiles.
Mrs. J. A. Wiant and family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, W. F. Alexander, who died 9 years ago, August 17, 1941.
At home in the beautiful hills of God.
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done,
With joy we will meet you there.
Sadly missed by his wife and family:
Mrs. W. F. Alexander; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Alexander; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alexander; Granddaughters Ruth Marlee and Dleatra Ann Alexander.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation and give our sincere thanks to all of our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and father, J. A. Wiant. We also wish to thank Rev. J. F. Zimmerman and Rev. Gordon Hall, the pallbearers, and those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their automobiles.
Mrs. J. A. Wiant and family.

Demand For Rails Helps Push Stock Market Ahead

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Demand for railway stocks helped push most of the market forward today.

Gains ranged from a few cents to more than $1 a share. A few issues got up as much as $3 or so.

Most groups shared in the advance. Selected motor and chemical issues, and an assortment of other shares, held back through the day.

In addition to the rail, aircraft stocks did well, plus a hand-picked group of shares affected by special development. Rails improved despite the possibility of a strike of 300,000 rail workers.

Final prices were at or just under the top marks of the day in the majority of cases.

Business gathered a little speed as quotations inched forward but there was no great urgency to either the buying or selling. Sales of 1,770,000 shares compared with 1,330,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .3 of one point to 77.8. Rails made the best showing, followed by industrials. Utilities were unchanged.

Helping to sustain prices was a rich flow of corporate news that included extra and increased dividends, fat profits, and high-level production.

Remington Rand, the most active stock, gained 1⅞ at 14. The company has just arranged to supply Columbia Broadcasting with television equipment.

American Airlines added ⅝ to 12¼ in active dealings. Directors approved a 25-cent dividend, first paid since December 1945.

American Sugar stepped ahead 3 to 57½ following word of a dividend of $1.50 in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.

Gillette Razor had the benefit of a $1 extra dividend and the stock gained 1 at 39.

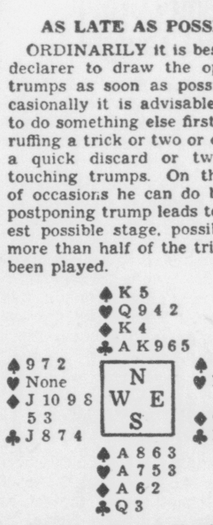
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE
By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

AS LATE AS POSSIBLE

ORDINARILY it is best for the declarer to draw the opponents' trumps as soon as possible. Occasionally it is advisable for him to do something else first, such as ruffing a trick or two or obtaining a quick discard or two before touching trumps. On the rarest of occasions he can do better by postponing trump leads to the latest possible stage, possibly after more than half of the tricks have been played.



(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

After the deal East said he was glad he hadn't doubled. His only reason for not doing so was his respect for the thorough, alert, able declarer, which proved justified.

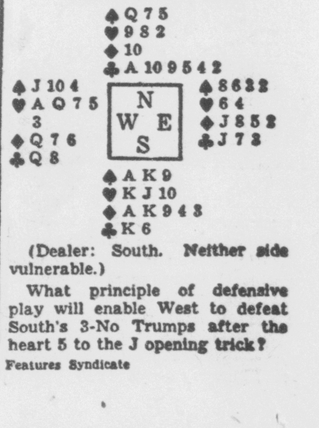
After the diamond J lead was won by the K. South refrained from trying to guess the right way to play trumps, hoping he might make the opponents guess while he proceeded to gather information through other maneuvers. He cashed the spade K and A, ruffed the spade 6 with the heart 2, then cashed the diamond A, club Q and club A and led the club K. As he did so, he was ready for any play by East, if the latter could not follow suit.

If East, who retained all his hearts and the spade Q, had discarded the spade, so would the declarer, then lead another club. If East ruffed with the heart 6, he could be over-ruffed with the 7. East's actual play was apparently the best, a ruff with the 8. South let him have the trick, discarding his last spade. Obliged to lead in a nasty situation, East picked the spade Q, which brought a discard of South's final diamond while the heart 4 ruffed. That was the ninth trick.

Now, on the tenth trick, South made his first trump lead, the heart Q, which brought the K and A. Now the heart 3 to the 9 let East score his side's second and third tricks with the heart 10 and J, but then he had to lose the 6 to the 7 to give South the final trick that made the contract.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What principle of defensive play will enable West to defeat South's 3-No Trumps after the heart 5 to the J opening trick?

Demand For Rails Helps Push Stock Market Ahead

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Demand for railway stocks helped push most of the market forward today.

Gains ranged from a few cents to more than $1 a share. A few issues got up as much as $3 or so.

Most groups shared in the advance. Selected motor and chemical issues, and an assortment of other shares, held back through the day.

In addition to the rail, aircraft stocks did well, plus a hand-picked group of shares affected by special development. Rails improved despite the possibility of a strike of 300,000 rail workers.

Final prices were at or just under the top marks of the day in the majority of cases.

Business gathered a little speed as quotations inched forward but there was no great urgency to either the buying or selling. Sales of 1,770,000 shares compared with 1,330,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .3 of one point to 77.8. Rails made the best showing, followed by industrials. Utilities were unchanged.

Helping to sustain prices was a rich flow of corporate news that included extra and increased dividends, fat profits, and high-level production.

Remington Rand, the most active stock, gained 1⅞ at 14. The company has just arranged to supply Columbia Broadcasting with television equipment.

American Airlines added ⅝ to 12⅛ in active dealings. Directors approved a 25-cent dividend, first paid since December 1945.

American Sugar stepped ahead 3 to 57½ following word of a dividend of $1.50 in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.

Gillette Razor had the benefit of a $1 extra dividend and the stock gained 1 at 39.

House Group Backs River Study Plan

Flood Control, Land Treatment Proposed

Rep. J. Glenn Beall informed The Cumberland News yesterday that his resolution providing for a preliminary examination of the Potomac River and its tributaries in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia was approved by the House Public Works Committee.

The amount authorized is $15,000, Beall said.

"This examination will be made by the Corps of Engineers and they will work with the Department of Agriculture in their soil conservation survey which was authorized some time ago," he explained.

An area conservation official said that the work will be an extension of a flood control survey conducted about 11 or 12 years ago on the Upper Potomac above Hancock.

W. W. Nace, Oakland, district conservationist for Allegany and Garrett Counties, explained that damage caused by past floods will be assessed and recommendations made to reduce possible future damage.

The proposed new survey would cover the balance of the river, he added.

Land treatment in support of flood control, such as soil conservation along watersheds, is the Department of Agriculture's part in the project, Nace explained.

The Agriculture Department has already done some work in water retention along small watersheds in the West Virginia area, he added.

Original authorization of the project, made before the war, called for it to extend over a 20-year period, with appropriations to be made as the work progressed, Nace said.

Increased B. & O. Income Expected

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP) — Roy B. White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, predicted following a directors' meeting here today that the railroad's 1950 net income should be considerably larger than the $6,869,827 earned in 1949.

He reported July carloadings of 246,146 were some 14.6 per cent ahead of the like month a year ago, resulting in an increase of about $4,000,000 in operating revenues. Net income for July was more than $1,000,000 ahead of the same 1949 month, he said.

In the first seven months of 1949 B. and O. had net income of $6,902,364 which was reduced, in later months, by the miners' three-day work week and the coal and steel strikes. Thus far in 1950, White said, net income is within a few hundred thousand dollars of the 1949 rate, and he noted that railroad normally makes a better showing in the last half of the year.

Court Rules On Two Jobless Pay Appeals

Opinions were handed down yesterday by Associate Judge George Henderson in two cases involving claims for unemployment pay.

In the case of Evelyn G. Wilson appealing a decision of the Department of Employment Security, the court dismissed the appeal and upheld the Security Board. The woman had attempted to collect jobless compensation after she had left her employment at a Frostburg restaurent. The court found she quit her job voluntarily and was not entitled, therefore, to jobless pay.

French J. White, a furloughed Celanese employe who moved his family to West Virginia where he helped his aged and handicapped parents operate a small farm, had been denied his unemployment insurance.

The court found that White should receive his jobless pay since he had made himself ready for work if called, and had received no call. He was not employed on the farm and had no income therefrom, and was merely making the best of a bad situation for himself and family.

The court ruled on his appeal, that the department should pay his unemployment insurance as provided by law.

State Amvets Open Convention Here Saturday

Fifth Annual Meet Set For Two Days

The fifth annual convention of the Maryland State Department American Veterans of World War II will open here Saturday morning and continue through Sunday, with J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1 as the host.

Registration of delegates, alternates and guests will begin at the Amvets' Home, 131 Baltimore Street, at 10 a. m. Saturday. The conclave will formally open at 12 o'clock noon with greetings by state officers and officials.

A buffet luncheon will be served at 1 p. m. at the Cumberland Brewery, followed by a business session at the post home at 3 p. m.

The convention banquet will be held at 6 p. m. at the home of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, BPO Elks, South Centre Street. The commander's ball will be held at the post beginning at 9 a. m.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the business session will open with committee reports and other business. At noon the Ladies Auxiliary unit will serve a luncheon at the post home with a business session to be called at 1 p. m. Officers will be elected with the installation set for 3 p. m. and adjournment at 4 p. m.

While the national organization of Amvets was formed in 1944 the Department of Maryland did not get underway until a year later. The Maryland Department was formed in Frederick in the late summer of 1945 and Dr. Jack Marrone was elected first state commander. The present officers of the Department of Maryland Amvets include William B. Orndorff, this city, state commander; Robert Zigler, Middletown, vice commander; Phillip McGann, this city, adjutant; Kenneth Grimes, this city, finance officer; Edward Nikirk, Frederick, judge advocate; and Robert Bowlus, Middletown, national executive committeeman.

Harold Russell, who remembered for his motion picture portrayal of an armless, disabled veteran is national commander, elected September 1949. Organization headquarters is maintained in Washington, D. C.

Amvets, nationally, is the outgrowth of the merging of nine different vet groups from nine different states. The organization was formed at Kansas City in 1944 and delegates voted 10 to 8 to call the new outfit American Veterans of World War II. Soon after, a news reporter coined the word, "Amvets".

Sight Defects Discovered In 1300 School Children

Eye defects are found in about 1,300 county school children every year, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, told the Cumberland Lions Club yesterday.

Dr. Frantz, Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse, and Thomas Hubbs, who makes glasses for the Lions Club sight conservation program, described the program at the regular meeting of the club at Central Y.M.C.A.

Dr. Frantz said the Board of Education sends an eye specialist to examine children in the odd grades every year and about 1,300 are found to have defective sight.

Of these, he added, about 900 have parents who are unable to pay for corrective measures or glasses.

Winfield H. Adams, Lions president, stated that the club finances examinations for two needy children a week and glasses when needed. The program takes a budget of $1,300 a year, he added.

Dr. Frantz told the club that a clinic would be the only effective way of treating children, as there are few eye specialists in the county.

The Lions Club decided to take up the clinic question at the next executive board meeting September 1.

Miss Hardman described some typical cases and pointed out that the glasses supplied by the Lions Club are exactly like those purchased by private citizens. This prevents the children from standing out as charity cases, she said.

Hubbs spoke on the cost of the glasses.

The high cost of the eye program, Adam stated, made such performances as the Cumberland Horse Show September 16 and 17 necessary if the club wishes to help any other projects in which it is interested.

Proceeds from the two-day program at Fairgo will go to the Overlea School for the Blind and the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Court Petitioned To Sell Property

A suit in equity was filed yesterday asking the court to order the sale of property at 14 Greene Street here, so the proceeds can be divided among the heirs.

The suit was docketed by Sophie Bohn and David J. Lewis, against Matthew Bohn and others, all heirs under the estate of the late Florida M. Lewis, and all non-residents of Maryland.

D. Lindley Sloan and William M. Somerville docketed the suit for the petitioners.

Bills of complaint also were docketed for Eugene Wilbur Scharf vs. Oleda Louise Scharf; and Mary V. Rouch vs. Oscar Rouch.

Rear Of Restaurant Damaged By Fire

Considerable damage resulted early last night when a fire of undetermined origin broke out in a storage room at the rear of Diamond's Restaurant, North Mechanic Street.

Central Fire Company was called to the blaze at 8:50 p. m. and found the fire in the wood addition spreading to the rear of the kitchen.

Damage to the shed, wiring and food stored in adjoining areas was considerable and two barrels of dishes were damaged.

The Weather

It warmed up considerably yesterday and looked as if Cumberlanders might experience some real summer after all. Up at Constitution Park the temperature only reached 80, but downtown it just touched a sweltering 90 degrees. Low downtown of 65 was well above the low of 60 on the hill. According to the Weatherman, maybe 10 drops of rain fell, which won't help farmers very much in their fight against the drought. Seems as if those always-predicted scattered showers just won't turn up. The Weatherman predicts some cloudiness and "quite" warm today, and, again, scattered afternoon showers.

Several floats have been entered and Miss Cresaptown, her two assistants or runners-up and other contestants in the recent beauty pageant also will ride in the revue. The Naval Training Center here plans to enter a float and other recruiting services expect to be represented.

Tomorrow night a 'teen age dance will highlight the entertainment and on Saturday a "vehicle parade" will be held at 7:30 p. m. with prizes for the best decorated bicycle and other vehicles. The parade also will be followed by a dance.

Septic Tank Law To Be Enforced

Strict enforcement of state sanitary laws governing septic tanks is planned in Allegany County, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy state health officer, announced yesterday.

This action results from "numerous violations" discovered in a recent county-wide survey, Dr Frantz said.

The survey, made by J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, showed that 65 per cent of all septic tank installations during the past few years violated sanitary laws, and that the tanks were not properly maintained by owners.

In addition, Dr. Frantz pointed out that the State Roads Commission has now prohibited any drainage from septic tanks into highway catch basins.

Before septic tanks or sanitary privies are installed, full information regarding regulations must be secured from the Health Department, Dr. Frantz said.

The three-judge panel chose Bobby Harvey, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harvey, Bowling Green, "Mr. Firefighter."

The most appealing baby in the contest was Larry Hollis, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Hollis, Bowling Green.

"Mr. Firefighter" and "Miss Firefighter" will lead a fireman's parade tomorrow night which will highlight the week-long fireman's bazaar at Bowling Green.

Scout Officials To Discuss Camp Potomac Plans

Council Meeting Planned Saturday

A council-wide meeting will be held Saturday at Boy Scout Camp Potomac for a full discussion of the building program of the Potomac Council camp site.

Invitations to attend the event, which will get underway at 1:30 p.m., have been sent to some 400 Scouters, Cubbers and persons interested in the Boy Scout program.

They will include representatives from Allegany and Garrett Counties, Maryland, and Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy and Grant counties in West Virginia.

The event will continue through the early evening and dinner will be provided for those who make reservations at Potomac Council headquarters by tonight.

Activities will be in charge of the Camp Development committee of which Miles G. Thompson is chairman.

Thompson said the committee is particularly anxious to secure the ideas of Scout officials throughout the council on locations of buildings and the types of construction to be used.

Officials said the council's drive to raise $74,000 over a three-year period has reached the $65,000 mark.

Present plans call for construction to begin as soon as possible so at least part of the camp facilities will be available for next summer's camp.

Willis V. Smith, Scout executive, said the central lodge and dining hall and a storage building probably will be the first structures to be erected.

When completed, Camp Potomac is slated to have facilities for 125 scouts a week, sufficient for the needs of the council.

Joseph E. Bishop, New York, director of the engineering service of the Boy Scouts of America, inspected the camp site recently and made favorable recommendations, Smith said.

Local Man Is Arrested In Park

A man booked by police as Earl J. Bishop, 512 Necessity Street, was being held in City Jail last night for investigation following his arrest in Constitution Park at 6:05 p .m.

Authorities said they also hold a warrant for Bishop charging him with assault on his wife, Mrs. Helen J. Bishop. She secured the warrant yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Parking Permit Issued

O. O. Wilson, 308 Mt. View Drive, obtained a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to use Lots 18 through 22, Kelly Boulevard, as a parking lot. The site is located in an industrial zoning district and has a frontage of 125 feet.

Next City Call For Flood Funds Will Be Smaller

McCutcheon Estimates Amount At $175,000

Next call on the city for funds in the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project will be considerably smaller than the $500,000 allocated for the current second phase of the project.

This was reported yesterday by Col. Allan J. McCutcheon, Washington district engineer of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, at an informal meeting with city officials.

The second phase of the project is due to be completed next summer.

Col. McCutcheon said the city's estimated share in the third phase is $175,000. That part of the project will include construction of pumping stations.

When the city will be called upon for that sum is not known as yet, Col. McCutcheon said.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer, said the current phase is the one involving large expense to the city.

Paye said property acquisition in Ridgeley has been completed until "we get into levee work" in the fourth and final phase. That will be handled jointly on a federal-city basis, he said.

Property acquisition on the West Side is still continuing, he added.

Donald E. Mather, resident engineer, reported that work on the pressure conduit at Williams and South Mechanic Streets will be finished "very soon."

Traffic Problem Studied

Construction of a pressure conduit at Frederick Street, which will involve deep excavation, is scheduled to begin late this fall, Mather said.

A traffic pattern has been worked out in co-operation with the Cumberland Police Department in preparation for the work Paye reported.

Mather also reported that work on the Savage River Dam near Bloomington is expected to be completed by December. Filling of the dam is scheduled to get underway by next March 1.

Col. McCutcheon said necessary funds have been allotted for completion of the dam. Mather commented he is "well pleased" with progress of the work.

Also attending the meeting were Mayor Thomas S. Post, City Commissioners Lucile W. Roeder and George H. Tederick; and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson.

Inspects Site

Col. McCutcheon inspected the Savage River Dam site yesterday and also visited the local office of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Allocation of funds for the second half of the current phase of flood control work, being done by George and Lynch Contractors of Wilmington, Del., was discussed.

Paye said work on a reinforced concrete sewer line and a new 24-inch cast iron water line from the Kelly Boulevard to Riverside Park will probably start late this month or early in September.

The concrete line, Paye declared, will carry all of the West Side sewage runoff, while the new water line will replace the present feeder along the Potomac. The present water line is situated where the river levee is to be built.

Also on the program for the second part of the phase is the construction of a large syphon in Wills Creek. This will be hooked up with the pumping station that is to be eventually built in the vicinity of Howard Street.

Meanwhile, progress continues on the Valley Street project which got underway in mid-January. Workers began to back-fill yesterday at the Columbia Street intersection in the ditch where the big pressure condut has been built. Most of the excavation under the Western Maryland and Baltimore and Ohio Railroads has been completed and work has begun on the ditch leading from Wills Creek to the railroad.

Radio Theft Probed

The Kessell Motor Company, 838 North Mechanic Street, reported to police yesterday that an automobile radio was stolen from a vehicle parked there over Tuesday night.

Police said the intruder forced open the door leading to the office and obtained keys to open the vehicle. The keys were left in the automobile after the radio was taken.

MISSING — Sgt. Herbert N. VanMeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. VanMeter, Luke, has been reported missing in action in Korea since July 20. He was also wounded in action while serving in the Army in World War II.

Four Men Hurt, One Critically In Auto Crash

Telephone, Electric Service Disrupted

Four men were injured, one critically, last night when the car in which they were riding struck a telephone pole on Route 36 one half mile east of Mt. Savage.

The crash, reported at 10:20 p.m. disrupted electrical and telephone service in a small area surrounding the accident but utility companies said repairs would be completed by 2 a.m.

Allegany Hospital attaches listed the men as Arthur Brullo, a Filipino man, residing in Barrelville, who is critical; Carl Sturtz, 21 Wellersburg, reported serious; Dewey Phillips, 18, and Donald Van Meter, 21, both of Barrelville.

The quartet was taken to Allegany Hospital in the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company ambulance. Police said Trooper Harry Bosley was still at the scene at midnight and they had no report.

A physician said the Filipino man was unconscious and suffered a possible fractured skull. He apparently came here at the end of World War II and took up residence in Barrelville.

The car in which the four were riding apparently swerved off the road and struck the pole. It toppled over, striking the power line disrupting service in the area.

In Cumberland a spokesman of the Potomac Edison Company said the power line extends out of Corriganville into Mt. Savage and also serves part of Frostburg.

An electric company crew was dispatched to the scene shortly after 11:30 p.m. and expected to have service restored by 2 a.m.

The telephone company said their communication lines were disrupted in the area, but they could give no estimate on the number of telephones affected.

All four of the men were admitted to the hospital after receiving treatment, but attaches said they did not consider Van Meter and Phillips seriously injured.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 16 (AP) — The Maryland - District of Columbia AFL's Political Education League announced tonight it had endorsed former Congressman John A. Meyer for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Millard E. Tydings.

Meyer is one of three candidates contesting Tydings' bid for renomination for a fifth term in the September 18 Democratic primaries.

The league, formally known as the Maryland State and District of Columbia Labor League for Political Education, also endorsed Gov. Lane for re-election to a second term, and his running mates, Attorney General Hall Hammond and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

It passed over four incumbent congressmen in making endorsements for the House of Representatives.

In the Sixth District, Democrat William Prescott Allen received the league's endorsement for the seat now held by J. Glenn Beall, Republican.

Local Marines On Active Duty Reassigned

Most Of Unit Now With 2nd Division

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following story was written by Bernard E. Sitter, Cumberland News staff writer now serving with the U. S. Marine Corps at Camp LeJeune, N. C. Sitter left with the local unit when it was called to active duty. He is rated as a combat correspondent.

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. — Cumberland Marine Reservists now on extended active duty at this huge amphibious training base have received new assignments, most of them with the famed Second Marine Division.

Called to active duty late last month, they were the first of many reserve outfits to arrive here.

Twenty-six of the young Marines are serving under their former executive officer, Capt. Patsy Algieri, Maryland Avenue, Cumberland. Capt. Algieri is now commanding "E" Company, Second Battalion, Sixth Marines.

The Cumberlanders will be trained by combat-wise veterans of the colorful regiment, which won acclaim in two world wars.

Three At Tank School

Others are serving with various units here, and some have been transferred to other bases for specialized training.

Three are at tank school in Fort Knox, Ky. They are First Lt. Vernon B. Sultenfuss, Hancock; Pfc. Robert E. L. Barber, Westernport, and Pfc. Donald E. DeHaven, Cumberland.

Two other company officers are serving here with the Second Division. First Lt. Lawrence J. Schmitt, Hagerstown, has been assigned to an ordnance unit, and Second Lt. Billy C. Menges is with the 10th Marines.

Some of the members of the company are now firemen, carpenters, cooks, clerks or photographers. All were interviewed and classified as to military occupation soon after they arrived, and were assigned according to their abilities.

Twenty-three recent enlistees were sent to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S. C., for "boot" training. When they complete the course they will be given new assignments.

Closing Out Records

A handful of officers and clerks have been left behind to close out the Cumberland company's records. The unit was disbanded Thursday and members still awaiting transfer have been assigned to Pennsylvania's Sixth Infantry Battalion.

The rear echelon, headed by Capt. James G. McKee, company commander, includes Warrant Officer Everett F. Gibbs, Keyser, W. Va.; T-Sgt. Otis Bean, 15 Valley Street; S-Sgt. Richard K. Jackson, Avirett Avenue; Sgt. Kenneth N. Inskeep, Cash Valley Road; Cpl. E. Don Diehl, Wiley Ford, W. Va.; Cpl. Michael L. Lindner, Gephart Drive; Pfc. George Stein, Baltimore Pike; Pfc. Ruhl Wilkins, Jeffries Road; Pfc. Thomas B. Sarver, Cresaptown; Pfc. Russell E. Haines, West Oldtown Road; Pfc. William R. Brotemarkle, Valley Road; Pfc. Charles E. Reynard Jr., Paca Street; Pfc. Thomas Fairall, 420 North Mechanic Street, and Pvt. Harry C. Taylor, Route 3.

House Group Backs River Study Plan

Flood Control, Land Treatment Proposed

Rep. J. Glenn Beall informed The Cumberland News yesterday that his resolution providing for a preliminary examination of the Potomac River and its tributaries in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia was approved by the House Public Works Committee.

The amount authorized is $15,000, Beall said.

"This examination will be made by the Corps of Engineers and they will work with the Department of Agriculture in their soil conservation survey which was authorized some time ago," he explained.

An area conservation official said that the work will be an extension of a flood control survey conducted about 11 or 12 years ago on the Upper Potomac above Hancock.

W. W. Nace, Oakland, district conservationist for Allegany and Garrett Counties, explained that damage caused by past floods will be assessed and recommendations made to reduce possible future damage.

The proposed new survey would cover the balance of the river, he added.

Land treatment in support of flood control, such as soil conservation along watersheds, is the Department of Agriculture's part in the project, Nace explained.

The Agriculture Department has already done some work in water retention along small watersheds in the West Virginia area, he added.

Original authorization of the project, made before the war, called for it to extend over a 20-year period, with appropriations to be made as the work progressed, Nace said.

Increased B. & O. Income Expected

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP) — Roy B. White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, predicted following a directors' meeting here today that the railroad's 1950 net income should be considerably larger than the $6,869,827 earned in 1949.

He reported July carloadings of 246,146 were some 14.6 per cent ahead of the like month a year ago, resulting in an increase of about $4,000,000 in operating revenues. Net income for July was more than $1,000,000 ahead of the same 1949 month, he said.

In the first seven months of 1949 B. and O. had net income of $6,902,364 which was reduced, in later months, by the miners' three-day work week and the coal and steel strikes. Thus far in 1950, White said net income is within a few hundred thousand dollars of the 1949 rate, and he noted that railroad normally makes a better showing in the last half of the year.

Court Rules On Two Jobless Pay Appeals

Opinions were handed down yesterday by Associate Judge George Henderson in two cases involving claims for unemployment pay.

In the case of Evelyn G. Wilson appealing a decision of the Department of Employment Security, the court dismissed the appeal and upheld the Security Board. The woman had attempted to collect jobless compensation after she had left her employment at a Frostburg restaurent. The court found she quit her job voluntarily and was not entitled, therefore, to jobless pay.

French J. White, a furloughed Celanese employe who moved his family to West Virginia where he helped his aged and handicapped parents operate a small farm, had been denied his unemployment insurance.

The court found that White should receive his jobless pay since he had made himself ready for work if called, and had received no call. He was not employed on the farm and had no income therefrom, and was merely making the best of a bad situation for himself and family.

The court ruled on his appeal, that the department should pay his unemployment insurance as provided by law.

The present officers of the Department of Maryland Amvets include William B. Orndorff, this city, state commander; Robert Zigler, Middletown, vice commander; Phillip McGann, this city, adjutant; Kenneth Grimes, this city, finance officer; Edward Nikirk, Frederick, judge advocate; and Robert Bowlus, Middletown, national executive committeeman.

Amvets, nationally, is the outgrowth of the merging of nine different vet groups from nine different states. The organization was formed at Kansas City in 1944 and delegates voted 10 to 8 to call the new outfit American Veterans of World War II. Soon after, a news reporter coined the word, "Amvets".

Sight Defects Discovered In 1300 School Children

Eye defects are found in about 1,300 county school children every year, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, told the Cumberland Lions Club yesterday.

Dr. Frantz, Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse, and Thomas Hubbs, who makes glasses for the Lions Club sight conservation program, described the program at the regular meeting of the club at Central Y.M.C.A.

Dr. Frantz said the Board of Education sends an eye specialist to examine children in the odd grades every year and about 1,300 are found to have defective sight.

Of these, he added, about 900 have parents who are unable to pay for corrective measures or glasses.

Winfield H. Adams, Lions president, stated that the club finances examinations for two needy children a week and glasses when needed. The program takes a budget of $1,300 a year, he added.

Dr. Frantz told the club that a clinic would be the only effective way of treating children, as there are few eye specialists in the county.

The Lions Club decided to take up the clinic question at the next executive board meeting September 1.

Miss Hardman described some typical cases and pointed out that the glasses supplied by the Lions Club are exactly like those purchased by private citizens. This prevents the children from standing out as charity cases, she said.

Hubbs spoke on the cost of the glasses.

The high cost of the eye program, Adam stated, made such performances as the Cumberland Horse Show September 16 and 17 necessary if the club wishes to help any other projects in which it is interested.

Proceeds from the two-day program at Fairgo will go to the Overlea School for the Blind and the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Court Petitioned To Sell Property

A suit in equity was filed yesterday asking the court to order the sale of property at 14 Greene Street here, so the proceeds can be divided among the heirs.

The suit was docketed by Sophie Bohn and David J. Lewis, against Matthew Bohn and others, all heirs under the estate of the late Florida M. Lewis, and all non-residents of Maryland.

D. Lindley Sloan and William M. Somerville docketed the suit for the petitioners.

Bills of complaint also were docketed for Eugene Wilbur Scharf vs. Oleda Louise Scharf; and Mary V. Rouch vs. Oscar Rouch.

Rear Of Restaurant Damaged By Fire

Considerable damage resulted early last night when a fire of undetermined origin broke out in a storage room at the rear of Diamond's Restaurant, North Mechanic Street.

Central Fire Company was called to the blaze at 8:50 p. m. and found the fire in the wood addition spreading to the rear of the kitchen.

Damage to the shed, wiring and food stored in adjoining areas was considerable and two barrels of dishes were damaged.

The Weather

It warmed up considerably yesterday and looked as if Cumberlanders might experience some real summer after all. Up at Constitution Park the temperature only reached 80, but downtown it just touched a sweltering 90 degrees. Low downtown of 65 was well above the low of 60 on the hill. According to the Weatherman, maybe 10 drops of rain fell, which won't help farmers very much in their fight against the drought. Seems as if those always-predicted scattered showers just won't turn up. The Weatherman predicts some cloudiness and "quite" warm today, and, again, scattered afternoon showers.

The Naval Training Center here plans to enter a float and other recruiting services expect to be represented.

Septic Tank Law To Be Enforced

Strict enforcement of state sanitary laws governing septic tanks is planned in Allegany County, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy state health officer, announced yesterday.

This action results from "numerous violations" discovered in a recent county-wide survey, Dr Frantz said.

The survey, made by J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, showed that 65 per cent of all septic tank installations during the past few years violated sanitary laws, and that the tanks were not properly maintained by owners.

In addition, Dr. Frantz pointed out that the State Roads Commission has now prohibited any drainage from septic tanks into highway catch basins.

Before septic tanks or sanitary privies are installed, full information regarding regulations must be secured from the Health Department, Dr. Frantz said.

Scout Officials To Discuss Camp Potomac Plans

Council Meeting Planned Saturday

A council-wide meeting will be held Saturday at Boy Scout Camp Potomac for a full discussion of the building program of the Potomac Council camp site.

Invitations to attend the event, which will get underway at 1:30 p.m., have been sent to some 400 Scouters, Cubbers and persons interested in the Boy Scout program.

They will include representatives from Allegany and Garrett Counties, Maryland, and Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy and Grant counties in West Virginia.

The event will continue through the early evening and dinner will be provided for those who make reservations at Potomac Council headquarters by tonight.

Activities will be in charge of the Camp Development committee of which Miles G. Thompson is chairman.

Thompson said the committee is particularly anxious to secure the ideas of Scout officials throughout the council on locations of buildings and the types of construction to be used.

Officials said the council's drive to raise $74,000 over a three-year period has reached the $65,000 mark.

Present plans call for construction to begin as soon as possible so at least part of the camp facilities will be available for next summer's camp.

Willis V. Smith, Scout executive, said the central lodge and dining hall and a storage building probably will be the first structures to be erected.

When completed, Camp Potomac is slated to have facilities for 125 scouts a week, sufficient for the needs of the council.

Joseph E. Bishop, New York, director of the engineering service of the Boy Scouts of America, inspected the camp site recently and made favorable recommendations, Smith said.

Local Man Is Arrested In Park

A man booked by police as Earl J. Bishop, 512 Necessity Street, was being held in City Jail last night for investigation following his arrest in Constitution Park at 6:05 p .m.

Authorities said they also hold a warrant for Bishop charging him with assault on his wife, Mrs. Helen J. Bishop. She secured the warrant yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Parking Permit Issued

O. O. Wilson, 308 Mt. View Drive, obtained a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to use Lots 18 through 22, Kelly Boulevard, as a parking lot. The site is located in an industrial zoning district and has a frontage of 125 feet.

Next City Call For Flood Funds Will Be Smaller

McCutcheon Estimates Amount At $175,000

Next call on the city for funds in the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project will be considerably smaller than the $500,000 allocated for the current second phase of the project.

This was reported yesterday by Col. Allan J. McCutcheon, Washington district engineer of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, at an informal meeting with city officials.

The second phase of the project is due to be completed next summer.

Col. McCutcheon said the city's estimated share in the third phase is $175,000. That part of the project will include construction of pumping stations.

When the city will be called upon for that sum is not known as yet, Col. McCutcheon said.

Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer, said the current phase is the one involving large expense to the city.

Paye said property acquisition in Ridgeley has been completed until "we get into levee work" in the fourth and final phase. That will be handled jointly on a federal-city basis, he said.

Property acquisition on the West Side is still continuing, he added.

Donald E. Mather, resident engineer, reported that work on the pressure conduit at Williams and South Mechanic Streets will be finished "very soon."

Traffic Problem Studied

Construction of a pressure conduit at Frederick Street, which will involve deep excavation, is scheduled to begin late this fall, Mather said.

A traffic pattern has been worked out in co-operation with the Cumberland Police Department in preparation for the work Paye reported.

Mather also reported that work on the Savage River Dam near Bloomington is expected to be completed by December. Filling of the dam is scheduled to get underway by next March 1.

Col. McCutcheon said necessary funds have been allotted for completion of the dam. Mather commented he is "well pleased" with progress of the work.

Also attending the meeting were Mayor Thomas S. Post, City Commissioners Lucile W. Roeder and George H. Tederick; and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson.

Inspects Site

Col. McCutcheon inspected the Savage River Dam site yesterday and also visited the local office of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Allocation of funds for the second half of the current phase of flood control work, being done by George and Lynch Contractors of Wilmington, Del., was discussed.

Paye said work on a reinforced concrete sewer line and a new 24-inch cast iron water line from the Kelly Boulevard to Riverside Park will probably start late this month or early in September.

The concrete line, Paye declared, will carry all of the West Side sewage runoff, while the new water line will replace the present feeder along the Potomac. The present water line is situated where the river levee is to be built.

Also on the program for the second part of the phase is the construction of a large syphon in Wills Creek. This will be hooked up with the pumping station that is to be eventually built in the vicinity of Howard Street.

Meanwhile, progress continues on the Valley Street project which got underway in mid-January. Workers began to back-fill yesterday at the Columbia Street intersection in the ditch where the big pressure condut has been built. Most of the excavation under the Western Maryland and Baltimore and Ohio Railroads has been completed and work has begun on the ditch leading from Wills Creek to the railroad.

Radio Theft Probed

The Kessell Motor Company, 838 North Mechanic Street, reported to police yesterday that an automobile radio was stolen from a vehicle parked there over Tuesday night.

Police said the intruder forced open the door leading to the office and obtained keys to open the vehicle. The keys were left in the automobile after the radio was taken.

Four Men Hurt, One Critically In Auto Crash

Telephone, Electric Service Disrupted

Four men were injured, one critically, last night when the car in which they were riding struck a telephone pole on Route 36 one half mile east of Mt. Savage.

The crash, reported at 10:20 p.m. disrupted electrical and telephone service in a small area surrounding the accident but utility companies said repairs would be completed by 2 a.m.

Allegany Hospital attaches listed the men as Arthur Brullo, a Filipino man, residing in Barrelville, who is critical; Carl Sturtz, 21 Wellersburg, reported serious; Dewey Phillips, 18, and Donald Van Meter, 21, both of Barrelville.

The quartet was taken to Allegany Hospital in the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company ambulance. Police said Trooper Harry Bosley was still at the scene at midnight and they had no report.

A physician said the Filipino man was unconscious and suffered a possible fractured skull. He apparently came here at the end of World War II and took up residence in Barrelville.

The car in which the four were riding apparently swerved off the road and struck the pole. It toppled over, striking the power line disrupting service in the area.

In Cumberland a spokesman of the Potomac Edison Company said the power line extends out of Corriganville into Mt. Savage and also serves part of Frostburg.

An electric company crew was dispatched to the scene shortly after 11:30 p.m. and expected to have service restored by 2 a.m.

The telephone company said their communication lines were disrupted in the area, but they could give no estimate on the number of telephones affected.

All four of the men were admitted to the hospital after receiving treatment, but attaches said they did not consider Van Meter and Phillips seriously injured.

Local Marines On Active Duty Reassigned

Most Of Unit Now With 2nd Division

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following story was written by Bernard E. Sitter, Cumberland News staff writer now serving with the U. S. Marine Corps at Camp LeJeune, N. C. Sitter left with the local unit when it was called to active duty. He is rated as a combat correspondent.

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. — Cumberland Marine Reservists now on extended active duty at this huge amphibious training base have received new assignments, most of them with the famed Second Marine Division.

Called to active duty late last month, they were the first of many reserve outfits to arrive here.

Twenty-six of the young Marines are serving under their former executive officer, Capt. Patsy Algieri, Maryland Avenue, Cumberland. Capt. Algieri is now commanding "E" Company, Second Battalion, Sixth Marines.

The Cumberlanders will be trained by combat-wise veterans of the colorful regiment, which won acclaim in two world wars.

Others are serving with various units here, and some have been transferred to other bases for specialized training.

Three are at tank school in Fort Knox, Ky. They are First Lt. Vernon B. Sultenfuss, Hancock; Pfc. Robert E. L. Barber, Westernport, and Pfc. Donald E. DeHaven, Cumberland.

Two other company officers are serving here with the Second Division. First Lt. Lawrence J. Schmitt, Hagerstown, has been assigned to an ordnance unit, and Second Lt. Billy C. Menges is with the 10th Marines.

Some of the members of the company are now firemen, carpenters, cooks, clerks or photographers. All were interviewed and classified as to military occupation soon after they arrived, and were assigned according to their abilities.

Twenty-three recent enlistees were sent to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S. C., for "boot" training. When they complete the course they will be given new assignments.

Closing Out Records

A handful of officers and clerks have been left behind to close out the Cumberland company's records. The unit was disbanded Thursday and members still awaiting transfer have been assigned to Pennsylvania's Sixth Infantry Battalion.
